PENNSYLVANIA VICE PRESIDENT WRECKED

Private Car of J. J. Turner Derailed at Early Hour at Lake Erie Crossing and Occupants Injured.

INJURIES SLIGHT; BROKEN RAIL CAUSE

The private car of J. J. Turner, second vice president of the Pennsylvania company, attached to passenger train No. 15, westbound, jumped the track at the Lake Erie and Western crossing, west of the city, about 5:30 o'clock this morning, bumped along the ties for about 300 feet, struck and carried away two signal posts and went down an embankment fifteen feet, slightly injuring Mr. Turner and John Shaw, a cook.

Mr. Turner's injuries consist of a scalp wound on top of the head and his hands were scratched. Shaw's legs were scratched and bruised below the knees. Mr. Turner's wounds were dressed by Dr. C. B. Stemen, chief surgeon for the company, and he was able to continue his journey. Shaw's wounds were treated by Dr. A. H. McBeth and he went to Pittsburg during the day.

Five men in the Car.

Besides Mr. Turner and the injured porter there were in the car Thomas Rodd, chief engineer for the company; C. F. Kelly, private secretary to the vice president, and Dan Wood, a colored porter.

A piece about four feet in length was broken out of the north rail of the track immediately west of the crossing frog and this derailed the car. The rear trucks of the sleeper immediately ahead of the private car, left the tracks, but none of the passengers were hurt.

"Why don't you get hold of a porter or somebody else. Just as soon as there is a wreck everybody looks for the officials," said Mr. Turner. "I don't know much about it. The car bumped along on the ties and the first thing I knew she went over. I found I was free from the wreckage and I crawled out the end of the car after a doctor had looked me over a little. No, no; I'm not much hurt."

"When the car went over I said to myself I'm s dead now," was Shaw's description. He had been up to light his fires and had just crawled back in an upper berth for a little nap.

Kelly First Man Out of Car.

Secretary Kelly was the first man out of the car. "I felt her go over, he said, and a lot of dishes or something fell on me. I felt for the window and found it slightly raised from the bottom and I pushed up the sash and got out.

"Then I went back and looked for the others and found they were not hurt. We were all asleep at the time."

Drs. E. J. McOscar, John McArdle, George B. Stemen and Bertha Goba went out with the other physicians on the wrecking train. Dr. McOscar crawled in at the end of the car through a broken window and said there were no sounds to be heard and the silence impressed him with the fact that the occupants had been killed.

Train Was Running Late.

The train was running double head out of here and was an hour and twenty minutes late. It was made up of ten cars and every one of them passed in safety over the point where the rail broke and only the rear car left the track.

Both trucks were torn completely off, the storage tanks were torn away as it went down the embankment, but it did not turn completely over and the inside was not much damaged. It is of wooden construction and practically new.

A squad of city policemen were hurried to the wreck in the auto patrol, but their services were not needed. In less than an hour trackmen were at work repairing the damage, the derailed sleeper was placed on the tracks and traffic was resumed at 9:45. In the meantime westbound passenger trains had been sent around the wreck on the other tracks and they were little delayed.

The embankment at the point the car rolled down is very steep and when the car landed it was on its side, practically clear of the right of way. Passengers from the derailed sleeper were transferred to the cars ahead and the train was sent on to Chicago, after a delay of about an hour.

The train was in charge of Conductor Maurice Prindiville and Brakemen G. W. Cooley and O. C. Obenchain. The engineers were William Swart and George Ek and the firemen were C. H. Kintz and A. W. Meier.

MAUMEE ROUTE MOST FEASIBLE

Waterways Commission to Submit Report Very Soon.

ADVISES A SURVEY

Washington, D. C., Feb. 5.—From information now at hand, the route by way of the Maumee river and Fort Wayne will be declared the most feasible for the proposed Lake Erie-Lake Michigan canal when the long-expected report of the National Waterways commission is made to congress early this week.

By an act of congress of Feb. 27, 1911, the National Waterways commission was instructed to investigate and report to congress upon the proposed canal. Through the insistent urging of Representative Cline the commission itself went over the route from Toledo to Fort Wayne and there held hearings.

The commission's findings, summarized, are as follows:

1. It recommends that an appropriation be included in this year's river and harbor bill for a survey for a barge canal.

2. Although various routes to connect the two great lakes have been suggested, the commission finds the one from Toledo up the Maumee river to Fort Wayne, thence by artificial waterway to Lake Michigan, to be the most feasible, from information now at hand.

Barge Canal Only.

3. The commission discards as impracticable the idea of a ship canal and suggests that the survey be for a barge canal only.

The commission's closing words of a long report are as follows:

"In view of the importance of this project in furnishing additional means of transportation in a locality where there is much need for the benefit of through traffic, as well as for marketing farm products and for taking care of the needs of the rapidly growing manufacturing centers through which it would pass, the commission recommends that a survey be made by the corps of

SECRETARY GETS INTO A BAD MESS

Scribe of Lorimer Committee Suspended and in Contempt.

SAID UNWISE THINGS

Washington, Feb. 5.—The Lorimer senatorial investigating committee today summarily dismissed Milton Blumenberg, its official reporter, because of his conduct at the hearing on Saturday night.

Pending the disposition of the contempt charges against him, Blumenberg will be held as a committee witness. He is also an official reporter of the proceedings of the senate, but it is said will not be employed there until the charges are cleared up.

Blumenberg declined to make a statement to the committee when called before it. The committee then adopted resolutions to prosecute him for contempt.

Pending these proceedings he was ordered released from the custody of the sergeant-at-arms. Other stenographers were employed for the committee's work and a recess was taken until late today when evidence to refute the charges of perjury against young McGowan will be introduced by attorneys for Senator Lorimer and Edward Hines.

Blumenberg created a sensation by charging that the stenographic notes of an alleged confession of Charles McGowan, a Hines-Lorimer witness, had been faked by the stenographer in the employ of a detective agency. Blumenberg's friends declare his outburst was caused by a nervous breakdown brought on by overwork and there was some doubt last night as to whether he would be able to appear today.

WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH, SHE SAID

Former Wife of Millionaire Suydam, Who Died in Suicide Pact With Affinity Husband, Had Realized It.

New York, Feb. 5.—The suicide pact which caused Mrs. Louise Lawrence Suydam and Frederick Noble to end their lives yesterday by gas asphyxiation is believed to have been entered into within a few days of their marriage a month ago. The couple were found dead in each other's arms in their apartment on West 12th street, lying on the floor, their heads in front of an open gas range and all jets turned on. They left no farewell note. Death had closed a romance which had its beginning five months ago, when young Mrs. Suydam fled from her millionaire husband's home at Blue Point, L. I., with young Noble. Suydam obtained a divorce and the eloping couple were married. Close friends of Mrs. Suydam say they were not really happy together and that in fact they never really loved each other. Noble too, showed that he was weary of it all and had grown discouraged. Mrs. Noble felt, her friends say, that she had never really loved anyone except her husband, Walter Lispenard Suydam.

The Wages of Sin is Death.

Once Noble heard her say in the presence of calcirs: "My friend, you and I and Fred may laugh some times at old things like the law and religion when they say 'thou shalt not.' We may think that phrase was written for old

MORE PLEAS IN TRUST CASE.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 5.—More pleas of nolle contendre were entered today in the criminal suit of the government against alleged members of the so-called bath tub trust that is scheduled to come up fortrial tomorrow. At noon today Judge Garvin, of Chattanooga, Tenn., in behalf of the Cahill Iron works and its president, Frank H. Caldwell, of Chattanooga, entered nolle contendre pleas and Judge A. C. Angell held sentence in abeyance as he did Saturday, when a similar plea was entered by the Day-Ward company, of Warren, Ohio.

ICE WHIRLPOOL HOLDING BODIES

Three Persons Who Went to Death With Niagara Ice Bridge Not Found.

YOUTH A TRUE HERO

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Although watchers were stationed at the whirlpool rapids early today, it was not expected that the ice-churning waters would soon release the bodies of the man, woman and boy who were swept down the gorge with floes from yesterday's sudden disintegration of the ice bridge.

The appearance of the whirlpool was ugly and the grinding of the ice jam racing within it echoed through the gorge. Great cakes of ice were being hurled down stream under the bridges where still dangled the ends of the ropes which had proved useless in the endeavor to rescue the trio as they were being swept down stream.

Identity Not Certain.

Nothing developed today to make more certain the identity of the man and woman supposed to be Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Stanton, of Lorento, Ont., ex-

SUGAR MEN WANT THE SUIT ENDED

Plea Put in to Estop Dissolution Case by the Government.

CALL IT ALL WRONG

New York, Feb. 5.—A plea to estop the government from further prosecution of the "so-called sugar trust" case is contained in the answer of the American Sugar Refining company and other defendants, filed today in the dissolution suit against it. The plea is based on the contention that the United States supreme court, in deciding the suit against E. C. Knight company and others, disposed of the allegations brought in the present suit. The American company was one of the defendants in the action against the Knight company.

The defendants declare that their business does not exceed forty per cent. of the entire sugar trade of the country. The chief reasons for the original combination in 1887, the answer states, was not to restrict or monopolize trade, but by economic management to place the business on a sound basis. They also deny that the underweighing of sugar upon its admittance to this country was done with their knowledge or consent, allege that the frauds aggregate less than two-thirds of one per cent. of the total duties of $334,000,000, which they have paid.

Additional answers were also filed today by the Alameda Sugar company; Union Sugar company; John L. Howard, Western Sugar Refining company; Carver Sugar club, Iowa Sugar company, Michigan Sugar company, Charles B. Warren, Chester S. Morey, Great Western Sugar company, Billings Sugar company, Scotts Bluff Sugar company, Sterling Sugar company and the Morgan County Construction company. A general denial of the allegations in the bill is made by them.

TO BE TRIED FOR PEONAGE.

London, Ky., Feb. 5.—A special term of the United States district court began here today to try the cases of ten prominent and wealthy lumber men who have been indicted on peonage charges. The defendants, it is alleged, have held workmen prisoners while they worked in the mountains of Kentucky. There are fifty-six counts in the indictments. One of the indictments had been returned against Scott Keeton, who was recently assassinated.

ANTI-THIRD TERM RESOLUTION HELD

Parliamentary King in the House Ties Up Action on Measure to Make New Declaration on Precedent.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Representative Slayden's resolution to put the house of representatives on record against the third presidential term was defeated temporarily at least today, by a twist of parliamentary procedure, which took the house by surprise.

When Mr. Slayden offered his resolution Representative Norris, of Nebraska, demanded a second for it, a formal way of securing a forty minute debate.

To the surprise of many the roll call resulted, 90 to 51 and having no second for his resolution Mr. Slayden withdrew it. While the roll call was on there was in progress a continuous conference among the republicans in which the regulars and progressives joined.

FOR SUFFRAGE IN DISTRICT.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Universal suffrage for citizens of the District of Columbia was proposed in a bill introduced today by Representative Berger, of Wisconsin. The bill would change the system of government in the district providing for self-government with a mayor at its head, and would abolish the organic act which compels congress to pay half of the expenses of the district. The socialist member argues that the present system benefits only the wealthy property owners.

PLAN LAND ENTRY REFORMS.

Washington, Feb. 5.—A reclassification of the forms of entry of lands in the public domain; laws to meet the acts in each particular class of entry; and rulings by the land office to encourage the bona fide settlement of the west were advocated by Secretary of the Interior Fisher today before the house committee on public lands.

Mr. Fisher submitted to the committee a draft of a new law to regulate the homesteading of arid lands. It would relieve the settler of residence on the irrigation project for the first two years of his ten-year term and substitute for that provision the cultivation of one-eighth of the land the first year, two-eighths the second year and so on for five years. At the end of five years

KING AND QUEEN HAVE RETURNED

George and Mary Given a Real Royal Welcome to London.

BACK FROM DURBAR

London, Feb. 5.—King George and Queen Mary returned to England today from the most memorable journey ever undertaken together by a king and queen of Great Britain and Ireland. After an absence of three months during which they had been crowned emperor and empress of India and had received the homage of many of their princely vassals in the vast eastern empire, they were given a hearty welcome back to London.

Their present stay in the British islands will be only a short one as they are due to pay a round of state visits to European courts this spring and summer.

Proceed to London.

After breakfasting on board the Medina with Queen Mother Alexandra, the prince of Wales and the other royal children, their majesties landed and were saluted by the guns of the forts around Portsmouth. On the quay were drawn up guards of honor of blue jackets and soldiers, who presented arms while a military band struck up the strains of the national anthem. The king inspected the guard of honor and then boarded a special train in which he with the queen and the royal children traveled to London through the country covered thickly with snow. The stations along the route were decked with flags.

A large assemblage of notables were waiting at Victoria Station when the train pulled in soon after midday. An archway bearing the words "Welcome home" in gold lettering on a blue ground was erected across the platform where their majesties alighted.

Greeted by Premier.

Premier Asquith with other members of the cabinet were the first to greet the king and the queen. Then came a group of members of the diplomatic corps and prominent officers of the army and navy in brilliant uniforms. The lord mayor and the sheriffs of London and the lord mayors of the principal cities of the British isles all wearing their regalia also were present to welcome their majesties.

When the greetings were over a procession of five royal carriages was formed. The king and queen with the prince of Wales and Princess Mary occupied the first carriage, which was drawn by four horses. With its escort

READY TO SPRING DYNAMITE BILLS

Only Formalities Remain to Be Executed by the Grand Jury.

THIRTY INDICTMENTS

Indianapolis, Feb. 5.—United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller intimated today that whatever action the federal grand jury takes on the dynamite conspiracy cases already has been decided upon and that the meeting tomorrow afternoon practically is a formality.

Soon after the last witness was examined, it was said, the jury was ready for voting and the adjournment over until tomorrow was taken to prepare the forms of indictments which are to be voted upon. Thirty or more indictments are known to have been drawn up.

More information reached the officials today that men in various parts of the country have prepared to raise funds and secure counsel for possible defense. Inquiries have come from men in nineteen or more cities where action might be expected as to what course they should pursue in case the jury reports true bills.

NEW DOMINICAN PRESIDENT.

San Domingo, Republic of Santo Domingo, Feb. 5.—Senator Eladio Victoria, who has filled the office of provisional president since the assassination of President Caceres on Nov. 19, was elected today president of the republic of Santo Domingo.

President Victoria was formerly in the Caceres cabinet and was a great friend of the former president. He is about 50 years of age and is said to be wealthy.

Order prevails throughout the republic.

GEE FONG GOES AS EXPRESS.

Chinaman Shipped Across Country With Way Bill.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 5.—Gee Fong, a Chinese laborer who was twice caught while attempting to get into this country from Mexico, has been shipped in from Ensenada, Lower California, in charge of the Wells-Fargo Express company. When seen today Gee wore a tag similar to that which might be found on merchandise. He is consigned to Vancouver, B. C.

The formality of placing Gee under bond, attaching a government sealing wax seal to his tag and filing papers for his safe transportation through the country, was attended to by the customs officials here. A bond of $500 was required for this. In addition, another $500 was deposited with the company as payment for the head tax imposed upon Chinese by the Canadian government. This money was put up by a brother of Gee in San Francisco.

WILL INVESTIGATE FIRE.

Mysterious Blaze in Chicago Has Aroused Suspicion.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—A fire which is to result in an official investigation of the grain elevator of the Northern Malting company, North Ashland avenue and Bloomingdale road, occurred early today. The loss is estimated at $500,000. Two firemen and a watchman were injured.

"I cannot understand the rapid spread of the flames," said Chief Seyferlich. "I will ask the fire attorney to start an investigation."

Less than two weeks ago the elevator of the Acme Malting and Grain company, which was located but a short distance from the structure, which burned today, was destroyed by fire.

POLES DEMAND ACTION.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Official action by the United States against Russia for what is termed a "violation of international treaties" is demanded in a petition forwarded to Washington today by Polish American societies of this city. The offense consists in the annexation of the Polish province Khelm, according to the resolution.

CANNOT STOP HICCOUGHING.

Logansport, Ind., Feb. 5.—John Murphy, trustee of Eel township, has been hiccoughing for eleven days. Every known remedy has been tried, but he has received little relief. Several days ago the hiccoughing stopped for several hours, but began again, and now the patient is so weak that his death is expected hourly.

Murphy's daughter, Ethel, a teacher in the city schools, died after a short illness of throat trouble, and the shock to the father was so great that he became ill. While he was in bed he was attacked with the strange malady.

BIDS FOR PLANT ARE CONSIDERED

Board Not Ready to Make an Award on Machinery for Repairs.

READY FOR SPRING

When the board of public works went into session this afternoon there were five bids on hand for the contract of supplying the city with an asphalt repair plant and all were taken under advisement until they could be carefully considered.

Most of them were inside the appropriation of $10,000 for the machinery, which will include a steam roller, and as soon as consultations have been held with the representatives of the manufacturers the award will be made.

It is hoped to get the machinery set up and ready for use early in the spring, as the streets on which the guarantees have expired are badly in need of attention.

Park Board Meeting.

Members of the park board went into session this afternoon for the purpose of reorganization and Prof. Louis Dorn and Louis Fox, the two new members, were on hand. There was no opposition to Col. D. N. Foster for president.

Some time was spent in acquainting the new members with conditions in the park department and Engineer Price had already for submission an estimate of the cost of improvements at Lakeside park. All the real estate north of the Maumee river and east of the St. Joe river, the east and north city limits, is included in the district and will be assessed for the work.

Without a Mustache.

Member Ed Lennon, of the works board, created a mild sensation when he reported for duty this morning without his mustache. As he had worn this for a great number of years some of the attaches were a bit puzzled about his identity.

Garbage Question Again.

A meeting of the committees on contracts and franchises and on garbage has been called for Thursday evening, when an attempt will be made to settle the question of collection for the next year.

SPECTATORS DID NOT HEAR TRIAL

Henry Hay Bound Over and Big Monday Crowd Was Disappointed.

LITTLE FAMILY THERE

City court spectators were subjected to a bitter disappointment today when Judge Frank Mungovan heard in private the testimony given by Sadie Smead against Henry Hay and held the prisoner to the circuit court under a bond of $1,000, which he was not able to supply.

There was an element of pathos injected into the revolting case by the presence of Hay's wife and four children, the oldest six and the youngest a babe in arms. The girl's recital indicted the guilt of the prisoner and although consent was shown, the victim is only fifteen years old and this does not relieve him of the charge of criminal assault.

R. E. Proctor, state senator from Elkhart county, was here to help in the prosecution of the case and to ascertain whether Hay had been guilty of similar crimes in his home town.

Hay came here as a friend of the family of Alfred Smead, father of the girl who was his victim. All formerly lived at Elkhart, where they were acquaintances. Hay was defended by Attorney W. N. Ballou.

engineers, United States army, to determine what is the most feasible route, the probable cost of construction, and its traffic possibilities.

In selecting the best route, not only engineering difficulties should be considered, but also the best location of the canal with reference to its use both for local purposes and for through traffic. For carrying out this survey the commission recommends that a sum not to exceed $15,000 be appropriated by congress.

Worthy of Adoption.

"Projects such as this, which constitute connecting links in important routes, will doubtless at some time, as the country develops, become worthy of adoption by the government. Whether the time has yet arrived when the construction of the proposed canal would result in benefits commensurate with the cost can only be determined after further investigation, in which the survey recommended would logically be the first step."

The report of Col. Mills, corps of engineers, has been completed and it also recommends a survey.

In declaring against a ship canal the waterways commission says:

"The cost of construction, together with the difficulty of obtaining an adequate water supply, makes such a project impracticable. Moreover, if it were constructed, the commission is of the opinion that large lake steamers would take the longer lake route by way of the Straits of Mackinac, in preference to the slow and tedious passage through the proposed canal."

Of Interest to You

We have finished our inventory. And we tell you two things that we have found that are interesting to you every day during the year and of great interest to you this month. FIRST: We did more business last year than we have ever done in any one year before. This is of interest, for as our business increases our margin of profit decreases. We shall sell goods this year at even a smaller profit than we did last year. SECOND: Owing to the scores of different models in suits and overcoats and the many different lines that we have added to our men's, boys' and children's departments, our invoice shows over $19,000.00 larger stock on February 1st, 1912, than it did February 1st, 1911. You all know why this is of interest to you. If there is one who cannot guess, we will tell you. Just as soon as we have marked the Spring goods that are now in the store we will begin the Sale of All Sales, "Our Great Half-Price Sale," and there will be over $19,000.00 more merchandise in this sale than there was a year ago. Watch for the announcement of this great event. We shall do but little advertising. Last year we cut our advertising over 30 per cent. This all went to you in values.

CITY SECURES A CHANGE IN CASE

Will Hold Carrie Smallback Damage Suit in Wells County.

IS ASKING FOR $2,000

An affidavit was filed in the circuit court today signed by Frank T. Benoy, chairman of the board of public works, stating that the city of Fort Wayne cannot obtain here a fair trial of the damage suit brought by Carrie Smallback and Judge O'Rourke granted a change of venue to Wells county.

The case had been set down for trial here next week. The complainant is the wife of Henry Smallback and on Sept. 16, of last year, drove over dirt that had been piled up after digging a pipe trench and was thrown from her buggy, injuring her right arm and shoulder.

Foreigners Didn't Appear.

George Letsw; who asked for the privilege of transferring a license to the old "hole in the wall" saloon on Force street, did not appear in the commissioners' court today to make his application. A remonstrance had been filed against him.

Zach Hoisen, a Roumanian, who has been trying to break in for several years, did not appear to insist on the transfer to him of the Ferd Bickuese saloon in the Rolling mills district.

Appraisers Make Report.

John B. White, W. H. Scheiman and Daniel L. Harding, made their formal report to the circuit court today of their appraisement of the Hamilton property, sought under condemnation proceedings by the school board.

A formal entry was made and the next step will be the tender by the board of the money unless Miss Hamilton sees fit to appeal from the valuation fixed by the appraisers.

Seeking an Election.

For the purpose of determining whether or not stone roads shall be built in Cedar Creek township, a petition bearing 126 names has been presented by Trustee Dailey, Henry Hasler, John Kryder, Herbert Schwartz, Franklin Klopfenstine and Noah A. Gerig, asking that an election be ordered by the county commissioners. More than half the legal voters signed it and the signers represent a big proportion of the property.

Jackson Asks a Divorce.

After obtaining possession of his household goods and filing an action against William D. Schoppmann for alienating his wife's affections, Levi M. Jackson is seeking a divorce. The defendant in the case is Elena May Jackson, and he charges her with having abandoned him and taking up her residence at 1848 South Calhoun street. They were married in September, 1900.

Milor to Plead Guilty.

As soon as an affidavit is filed against him in the circuit court, Harry Milor will plead guilty to the charge of stealing a horse and buggy from the Nolan livery barn on Harrison street. Deputy Sheriff Schonfeldt brought him back from Greenville, O., where he was captured.

He said he was born and reared in Fort Wayne and that he stole the rig to sell it and obtain money to visit a son who is in the west for the benefit of his health.

It has not been determined whether he committed suicide or was murdered. Herschey's father was murdered at Fairport in 1869.

FORGOT ABOUT THE DYNAMITE.

Jaudon, Mo., Feb. 5.—When a watchman employed by a railway construction company here forgot the fire he had kept burning during the night to keep a quantity of dynamite and powder warm the magazine caught fire and two tons of the explosive blew up early today. No matter how Governor Dix, of New York, may decide on the application of Foulke Engelbrecht Brand, Mortimer L. Parker, Paul D. Cravath and Howard C. Gans in an effort to keep the man who was his valet in Clinton Prison for twenty-five years more.

District Attorney Whitman, of New York county, it has been learned, recommended Executive clemency for the prisoner, and favored severe arraignment of many of the persons connected with his prosecution, resulting in the sentence of thirty years for a boy of nineteen for his first offence.

THE RIVER BANKS.

The essential motive, the great civic purpose underlying the proposal that the city shall purchase the river banks within the municipal boundaries seem to be misunderstood. If the city should never plant a flower or shrub, should never grow a foot of grass or build a yard of driveway on the river banks, the city nevertheless should own this property. It ought to own it as a sanitary measure if for no other reason. If the river banks are purchased at the cost now estimated, are cleared of stables, outhouses and accumulated debris and filth and kept in that condition, the river fronts will be well worth the price should nothing further ever be done with the property. Since, however, the river banks offer the greatest and most diverse possibilities for embellishment and can be made to accommodate with park convenience and pleasure grounds the greatest number of people of any park project that can be thought of, and since further it should be, as it is, a matter of pride with the people of Fort Wayne to make the most of their natural assets of beauty, the river improvement scheme has been planned as the logical and wise thing to do. Once these river banks are in municipal possession and stripped of their disfigurements and foulness, the river channels cleansed and maintained so, those who do not readily see the advantages now will then begin to see them. And we repeat and with addition of emphasis that if the city should contemplate no further purpose with the river fronts than to make them clean and sightly they would be worth all they are expected to cost and more, and the city ought not to delay one needless hour in making the purchase.

THE NEW PARK BOARD.

The reorganized board of park commissioners will meet public approval to the minutest exaction. On Thursday Mayor Grice appointed Mr. Louis Fox to a vacancy on the board. On Friday he appointed Prof. Louis Dorn, of the Concordia college faculty, to another vacancy. As in the case of Mr. Fox, the appointment of Prof. Dorn is one that could not have been improved upon. He will make an ideal park commissioner. His intelligence and zeal in the promotion of the civic improvement propaganda in this city have been an inspiration to hundreds, and especially in the eastern part of the city, where perhaps least was expected and where the utmost enthusiasm and aggressive interest have been aroused. As the head of the civic improvement association in that district Prof. Dorn has directed the movement with immense energy and infectious zeal. He adds strength to the park board and his place in that body affords him a field of public service for which he is splendidly fitted. The board of park commissioners as now made up consists of Col. D. N. Foster, Mr. Oscar W. Tresselt, Mr. Louis Fox and Prof. Louis Dorn. Fort Wayne never has had any official body of greater strength of ensemble or higher character of personnel, and this is of prime importance now that the people are to be asked for the approval of a bond issue of $200,000, which it will be one of the functions of this board to spend. The public may take every assurance that if this money is provided, as there now is ample prospect it will be, it will be expended both wisely and honestly. In the hands of these men the great scheme of park development and river beautification in this city will go forward to the best possible results and to fulfilment of the most cherished hopes.

The democratic majority in congress has discovered that an alert, aggressive and resourceful standpat minority has the same capacity to object and obstruct that a similarly qualified democratic minority possesses. Therefore and accordingly, the reform rules of the house have been a bit altered. This does not mean a revival of Joeannonism with a democratic brand on its crest, but it does mean that the house has realized that so long as political partisanism and not solid statesmanship divides majority from minority there must be some way to make a majority a majority. Otherwise, the reform stands, or is supposed to.

Perhaps President Taft's international inquiry into the high cost of living may be able to find a way to circumvent the deviltries of the weather-makers, whose performances for the past four or five weeks have done things to the butter and egg industries seldom done before.

The power of the administration machine was given a fine demonstration in Chicago, where an attempt to put through an endorsement of Colonel Roosevelt failed in the Cook county republican convention. The Taft administration was approved with great heartiness by about four-fifths of the vote. With wise moderation the resolutions leave the endorsement of the Taft candidacy to be inferred.

A municipal system of garbage collection will mean that the city government can make the service if it will precisely as efficient as it is able to make it. By the old system it can make it just as good as the contractor is willing it should be and little better. And for the most part that is about as bad as it well can be.

After doing his vilest for the inauguration of February and getting the country prepared for a month and a half of the kind of weather the groundhog forecasts when he sees it, the meteorological boss in Washington now promises immediate delivery of a fine invoice of the balmy. No one should be deceived by it.

There appears to be here and there a man who has reason to suppose that he has been indicted by the federal grand jury at Indianapolis for complicity in the dynamite conspiracy. Some of these may find that the consolation of proving bad guessers is not without its embarrassments.

Senator LaFollette doubtless figured that he had little to lose by attacking the newspapers. Most of them are against him anyhow.

THE BOY WHO WORKS.

(Chicago Post.)

What is the matter with the working boy?

He is fourteen years old, at the very least. When we were fourteen we were, by comparison, incredibly competent at "chores" and paragons at reading and writing. But the working boy, as the modern employer sees him, is frequently a leaden-footed youth, a roamer about the streets, quick to throw up his job and indifferent regarding his future. He has been to school for a certain number of years; but the mere sight of him, let alone the recollection of certain of his performances, breeds savage doubts in the employer regarding the efficiency of what he would call "the whole educational shebang."

The best way to get at the difficulty is, first, to look over carefully one's stock assumptions. The best assumption to start with is that the working boy is very much like other boys. At least he starts out like other boys, yes, like us, when we were boys. The main fact about him, the principal ingredient, is just sheer boy-ness.

Starting with that assumption one can make a lot of progress, as a critical student of boys, or as an employer, or merely as a member of society who sees that something has got to be done about boys.

That is the position which Bray takes in his study of "The Town Child." Given an ordinary boy, and put him in a town or a city, and what happens? Mental and moral changes take place in him, due to "the effect of the street, shallow amusements, diversity and shifting of sights and sounds, irregular placing of buildings, the motiveless coming and going of people, the vicissitudes of employment and other urban phenomena." The features of the "city mind" which this process develops are "lack of continuity, restlessness, superficiality of thought and feeling, undue suggestions and failure to appreciate the mystery of human life and the presence of natural law."

If this is true—and probably most close observers of city children would indorse it—then it seems probable that one could find a fairly marked difference between the boys who are working in the city and those who are working for industries which have moved out of the city in rural or small town environment.

But all that is rather aside from the point, which is, What can be done for the working boys of Chicago? In Boston they are head over heels in that problem, but here the efforts to study the boy, his education, his equipment for life, his apprenticeship needs, his search for a job, have all been more or less at haphazard. Some people have suggested one thing and some another. And some have merely scolded.

The time has surely arrived for a concerted action. Dr. E. L. Talbert's study of the "Opportunities in School and Industry for the Children of the Stockyards District," published under the auspices of the University of Chicago Settlement, makes one feel that our failure to get together on this problem is charging up a heavy score against us. We are letting boys leave school at 14 to waste two years or more before they get a decent job; we are sending them from school quite unaware of the possible connection between education and a trade; we are letting boys go into "blind alley" occupations, like the messenger service, when there are useful lifelong trades to be entered and mastered; we let them acquire the habit of shifting from job to job merely for a lack of a little vocational guidance.

The various organizations which have approached different aspects of this question ought to get together this year and establish, both in and out of the school system, the agencies which will keep the working boy of the city from falling an early victim to his environment and lack of opportunity.

HARLAN'S EXAMPLE.

(Rochester Union and Advertiser.)

Much comment is being made on the fact that the amount of the estate of the late Supreme Court Justice Harlin is stated in the petition for letters of administration to be only $13,386.11, of which $7,200 is in life insurance. It is declared by some that this reflects seriously upon the government as an employer. They argue that a man of the magnificent mental endowment of Justice Harlan should have been paid a salary that would have allowed him to leave his family in comfort and ease. Justice Harlan gave his best years and the best of his years to the service of the highest court in the country, yet he leaves only a comparatively small sum. Many a frugal man in an ordinary walk of life has left more than this, they say.

We may admit that the salaries of our supreme court justices are inadequate for the services they render and the position they hold, but we must acknowledge also that no figure mentioned when the matter of increasing their salaries has been discussed is inadequate. There has never been talk of paying them anything like the salaries or retainers paid the attorneys for large corporations. There must be some reason for this. We believe it lies in the fact that the people do not reckon everything by its money value. Surely these lawyers who go on the bench of our highest court perform services just as valuable as do the lawyers for large corporations. From this standpoint they should, then, receive similar salaries. But the people know that if the compensation of judges were made very large it would cause the bench to be the goal of self-seeking lawyers, of men who had not the fine moral caliber which we wish our highest judges to possess. They would seek place on this bench for pay, not for the opportunity of being of service to the country in the interpretation of its laws. They would not be sufficiently sensitive of the honor of their position. So the people place the salary of these judges at a figure that will enable them to maintain their position with dignity and in comfort, if not in luxury. They know that by this means they will obtain judges who love the law and who wil not be swayed by wealth and ambition. They will obtain men who will not, as they should not, place money as the sole, or even as the greatest reward for earthly effort. And they do obtain the best kind of men, as an inspection of the names of those who have been judges of the supreme court of the United States will show.

Young men who are beginning their careers should look at these figures and ponder them well. They will see by means of them that a man who was a man among men, an intensely human man who kept up to date in all that is worth it, whom it is impossible not to admire for his ability, his honesty, his wholesomeness, did not think it worth while to pile up wealth than to serve his country. They will be reminded that love of one's work and of doing it for love of one's country, for the honor of so doing makes a life worthy, and gains credit, even from those who aim only at making money. Study of these figures may make our youth less eager for the financial triumphs than for the moral victories that may be gained on the battlefield of life.

RICH TEXANS IN MURDER SCANDAL

Three of Wealthiest Families in State Mixed in Boyce Killing.

ELOPEMENT IS CAUSE

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 5.—Three of the most wealthy and influential families of Texas are involved in the trial which began here today of John B. Sneed, accused of the murder of Capt. A. G. Boyce, the millionaire banker. That the "unwritten law" will figure conspicuously in the proceedings, is indicated by the statement of the accused man and the movements of his counsel.

The killing was the sequel to the elopement of Sneed's wife with Captain Boyce's son, and it is forecasted that much of the defense will be pitched on the claim that the elder Boyce aided in the romance.

The killing occurred in the lobby of a Fort Worth hotel several days after Mrs. Sneed had been returned from Winnipeg, whence she and young Boyce eloped. After the shooting, it is alleged, Sneed said "It had to be done," then he predicted the reasons would be brought out at his trial.

All Texas, more or less, is lined up on one side of other for the trial.

The Sneeds, the Boyces and the Snyders—the latter the family of Mrs. Sneed—have been well known in Texas since earlier generations began contributing to the state's history.

A. G. Boyce, jr., remains in Canada. At the earnest solicitation of friends he has made no attempt to return to Texas since the elopement and killing.

The trial was completed Saturday night.

SPEND NIGHT IN THE DRIFTS.

Trains Are Stalled by Heavy Snows in New York State.

Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 5.—Stuck in a snow bank eight to ten feet deep, caused by the blizzard of yesterday, thirty persons spent last night on a train on the New York, Auburn and Lansing road between this city and Auburn. The train leaving Auburn at 7 o'clock last evening became stalled in a drift near Mapleton. A freight train was sent out and shared the same fate. Farmers served coffee and lunches to the passengers and many went to the houses of farmers for the night. Another relief train dug them out this morning.

Independence, Kan., Feb. 5.—The Prairie Oil and Gas company today advanced the price of crude oil three cents to sixty cents a barrel. The reason, it was stated, was the alarming demand on the reserve stock and the rapidly decreasing production.

AN INVITATION TO PHYSICIANS

(Following appeared in every San Francisco daily on Feb. 13,1911.)

We invite you to inspect a recovery that is now in process on Clay street, in a case of chronic Parenchymatous Nephritis involving chronic albumenuria and general dropsy.

This case will interest you because it was carefully diagnosed by specialists at one of our best hospitals. Patient had been tapped twice and parents notified that recovery was impossible. An operation (decapsuling the kidney) was advised, but as no assurance could be given that any results could be hoped for the parents accepted the inevitable and took the patient home to die. Before leaving the city they decided to make one more effort.

A physician was called in who put the patient on Fulton's Renal Compound, aiding it with heart, tonic and eliminative treatment. The sixth day results began to show. At this writing, 60 days later, the albumen is nearly gone, the dropsy completely, so the patient is playing about the room and the attending physician believes he will be ready to be taken home in another month.

The case having been carefully diagnosed by some of the best professional talent in this city and in line of the best hospitals and recovery being theoretically impossible, the actual recovery that is now in process should interest those who still believe in the incurability of chronic Bright's diesease and particularly physicians and hospitals who have patients slowly succumbing under the old methods. The physician in charge will make an appointment with and meet physicians who may be interested.

THE TRAINING OF CHILDREN

Able Sermon by Bishop Alerding Preached at Cathedral Sunday.

THIRD OF A SERIES

The third of a series of sermons on the general topic of "Social Reform" was preached by Rt. Rev. Herman J. Alerding, the bishop, Sunday morning at the Cathedral, his special theme being "Early Training." The audience was a large one. These series of sermons by the bishop are interesting and instructive, and particularly able. The bishop's sermons are always characterized by grand thought spoken in that simple, plain, understanding way that reaches his hearers. The sermon of Sunday follows:

"The absence of, or the defects in our early training, affects us most seriously during the whole of life. Many a mortal today is struggling for mastery over seemingly ungovernable passions. Maybe pride, disobedience, sensuality, anger, sloth. They have grown with him from infancy to manhood, stronger and stronger. The passions are found, in our nature from infancy, long before the dawn of reason. In their corruption they must be ascribed to original sin. They must be regulated by moral training. This training cannot be begun too early. The longer deferred, the more difficult it becomes.

"In later life, many of us, looking into the perfect God-given law and into our moral condition, find the task of conforming the former with the latter too great for human effort to accomplish. It is too much for unaided human effort, yet we must not despair, for God gives to every man sufficient grace to save his soul. The task is not too much for man's good will, aided by the powerful grace of God.

"Defective training, or absence of it in early childhood, reacts in later years upon both parents and children. Bad boys and bad girls are the sorrow of parents, and bad men and bad women are the curse of society.

"In regard of the training of children, obedience, patience and frugality must be considered.

Foundation Stone.

"Humility is the foundation of the spiritual life. But a child is not easily taught humility. Obedience begets humility. Independence and self-assertion is the special characteristic of our times. Our blessed Lord requires us to obey the commandments of God and of those who have authority over us. This obedience must be both interior and exterior.

"Obedience today is outward. It is not the obedience taught by Jesus Christ. It is given with mental restriction, grudgingly and sparingly. Young people are given to questioning and criticising everything.

"We must obey with heart and mind. The motive for obedience is God's will, God the supreme Lord and Master, as well as a most loving Father. The child must obey for God's sake, because God wills it. This means restraint of a rebellious spirit. Though rebellious children are docile enough if authority is exercised reasonably and opportunely. Authority should be exercised gently, but firmly.

"Pride and vanity, for any cause, should be repressed by referring all we are and have back to God as the giver to whom we should be grateful. The first impulses of pride and vanity should be repressed, so as not to become habitual.

Christian Resignation.

"Patience overcomes one form of impatience, which is anger, teaching Christian resignation. Angry and excited children should not be argued with or scolded when in that state. Let the fit of anger pass away. Often one look of a loved and loving mother puts the angry child to shame and tears. Teach them the evil of anger; tell them of Jesus meek and humble of heart.

"Want of resignation is another form of impatience, especially when suffering or in pain. The child should be instructed that Christ suffered to sanctify our sufferings, so as to make our sufferings in unison with him, meritorious unto penace, unto expiation of sin. Teach the children that God makes use of suffering to draw us near to Himself. The child should be moderate in its desire, should speak calmly, be considerate of others and should put up with disappointments.

The Ideal Life.

"The habit of self-indulgence makes men and women worship ease and luxury, and show irritation at anything that inconveniences them. The pleasures of the rich may be refined, and the pleasures of the poor coarse, but both are bent on enjoying themselves.

"The christian ideal is a sober, restrained and hard life, lived for the immortal soul and for the mind and heart. Food, drink and recreation are taken, not for their own sake, but as means to carry out the higher purposes for which God placed us in this world.

"Children must be habituated to moderation, regularity, temperance and an abhorrence of a soft life. They must be taught to live by reason, not by impulse; to act on religious principles, not be slaves of appetite; to despise luxury, to mortify themselves in eating and drinking, in a word to take upon themselves the cross, so as to become followers of their cross-bearing Christ.

"We may now consider that many children are spoiled by foolish indulgence. This is the extreme of undue severity of two or three generations ago. Undue severity prevents the child from expanding, it stunts development. Naturally vain, exacting, envious, forward and lazy, great discretion is necessary in praising or noticing children, in giving them what they want, in regulating the kind and quality of food and in giving them their liberty. It is much easier to grant what they want and to let them do what they please. It is a sure way to spoil children.

Child Training.

"Then, too, children must be corrected. A child showing vanity, disobedience, greediness or temper must be reproved and if necessary punished. Thus the child is instructed and impelled to repress bad propensities. Correction must be reasonable and opportune. Never correct in anger, for you will say the wrong thing and destroy your influence. The child will ignore continued querulous complaints and scoldings. Proper correction once made and not heeded must be followed by prompt punishment. Unless punishment is wise, considerate and moderate, it hardens the child and makes it rebellious. Parental punishment is often merely parental temper.

"Children must learn that God's grace is absolutely necessary for a christian life. The sacraments and prayer must be insisted on. But what if children do not see their parents and their elders practice what they preach? In that case, children conclude, however illogically, that instructions, sacraments and prayer are idle formalities.

"And so we must conclude how important early training is. Training is comparatively easy in younger years, but the repression and correction of passions in later life becomes a difficult task. Chiefly because incipient evidences of passion grow to tenacious habits, a consequence of continued indulgence. Whatever our conditions, our duty is plain. What can be done in youth should be done then, but if neglected, the greater task must be bravely taken up with God's greater help in later years."

Dedication in May.

Rev. George Horstman, the pastor of the St. Andrew's Catholic church, announced at the public worship Sunday that the dedication of the new church of the congregation would take place some time during next May. The exact date has not been determined. It may be May 18. With the exception of frescoing and decorating, the interior work at the church will be completed this week. Workmen are now engaged in plastering the walls and ceilings. Considerable time, however, will be required to install the seats, organ and furniture after its arrival.

Rev. Potts in Pulpit.

Rev. T. P. Potts occupied the pulpit Sunday morning at the First Presbyterian church and preached the sermon, an excellent one, his general thought being the certainty of the fulfillment of God's spoken word. Rev. Mr. Master, the pastor, had been at Buffalo, N. Y., to visit his family and failed to arrive home in time for the morning service. He was in his pulpit, however, in the evening. He had expected to be home early Sunday morning, but his train was eight hours late.

Engineer J. Q. McClelland and Firemen H. F. Briggs, J. W. Krick, L. R. Jones, C. G. Schmidt, H. Frost and B. J. Kramer, of the Pennsylvania, are off duty on account of sickness.

THIRTY TAKEN IN THE CHURCH

Large Accession of Members at Emmaus—Will Begin English Service.

$1,000 FOR ORPHANS

Thirty new communicant members were received into the Emmaus Lutheran church at the public worship services Sunday and partook of communion, that service being observed yesterday.

The financial reports for the year were read and they showed that after the payment of the salaries of the pastors and school teachers there remained in the treasury a surplus of $1,000. This will be given to the fund for the building of the orphan asylum of the denomination at Indianapolis.

Another important matter reported was the installation of Sunday evening services to be conducted in English, which is an innovation on the part of the Emmaus church. This service will be held on the last Sunday evening of each month and will be under the charge of Rev. Fred Wambsganss, the assistant pastor.

The Young Men's society of the congregation will meet tomorrow evening. The board of directors of the church will meet this evening.

Many of the older citizens of the city will be interested in knowing that Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bayless, of Kansas City, Kan., will tomorrow celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Bayless have not lived in Fort Wayne for more than thirty years, but they have relatives here and both Bayless and Shoaff families (Shoaff being Mrs. Bayless' maiden name), are widely known both in the city and the county. Mr. Bayless was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Lot S. Bayless and Mrs. Bayless was Miss Jennie Shoaff, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Shoaff, who lived at Huntertown. The officiating minister was named Robinson and he was connected at the time with the Methodist college then located in this city. It was a large wedding, over one hundred guests gathering on the day at the Shoaff home to attend it. The infare, as the wedding reception was called in those days, was held the day following the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lot Bayless, in Aboite township, and the roomy brick house which was the scene of the happy marriage celebration is still standing. There are living now but twelve of the guests who attended the wedding. They are Mrs. J. B. Barnes, a sister of Mrs. Bayless; James B. Shoaff and Scott Shoaff, relatives, who live here; Perry Shoaff, of San Antonio Tex.; Mrs. Jane Turner, Mrs. Eliza Shoaff, Mrs. B. W. Vesey, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley I. Work (Mrs. Work at that time being Miss Jennie Warcup), all of this city; Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shoaff, of Allen county, and Mrs. Margaret Bayless-Long, of Pittsburg. Mrs. Long will be better remembered here as Mrs. Thad Bayless, whose home for many years was in this city. Tomorrow she will celebrate her eightieth birth anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bayless have two daughters and a son. Assisting in the social duties tomorrow at their home in Kansas City will be the daughters of the family, Mrs. Lillian Bayless-Moore, Mrs. Amelia B. Dickinson and Mrs. George Bayless, all of Kansas City, Kan. Another relative of the golden wedding celebrants who lives in this city is their nephew, Dr. W. W. Shryock.

"REMARKABLE MUSICAL EVENT.

"The Girl of the Golden West" Coming Feb. 22 Is the Sensation of Musical Season.

"Fort Wayne is about to have a grand opera treat which she is certain to appreciate," said Mrs. E. C. Tyndall, special representative for Henry W. Savage, who paid this city a flying visit today in the interest of Puccini's latest grand opera, "The Girl of the Golden West." "Not only is it a musical and social event of great importance, but its educational value cannot be overestimated and the fact that it is American both as to theme and melody is a great step forward in operatic production," said Mrs. Tyndall.

"Mr. Savage brings this opera to the Majestic Feb. 22 because he realizes that this city is keenly critical in musical matters, appreciating and patronizing the best and shunning the tawdry. In the past Mr. Savage's high-class musical attractions have received such excellent patronage here that he is most solicitous to retain the good opinion thus won. He is, therefore, sending here 'The Girl of the Golden West,' one of the most expensive, if not the most expensive, touring organizations ever sent upon the road. It is certainly the most massive production of grand opera in America ever made outside of the house productions of the Metropolitan Opera house, New York. When I state that it requires an entire special train of ten cars to transport the immense production from city to city, I am only expressing the truth.

"In exact numbers the company consists of one hundred and twenty-four people. There are five prima donnas, seven tenors and five bassos, all of whom alternate so that the performance may be given five times consecutively without using the same principals twice. The chorus is large and extraordinary. It consists of trained voices selected from the musical colleges of America and in point of tone and color adds much to the remarkable music drama."

CHIFFONS.

A very new skirt has an opening in front with a wide flap, the same idea being carried out in the back seam.

Ribbon has returned to its own again and is likely to count strongly among hat trimmings during the next three months.

Black velvet costumes, with either a muff or a stole, or both of them, of white fox, are very becoming to blonde women.

Grebe feathers and ostrich plumage are used for collars and trimmings on some of the shawl draped tissue mantles.

It looks very much, indeed, as if for the present the fashion on the continent would favor more the oriental style than the occidental.

A Reader's Dilemma.

Each day I read the Chinese news
And try to get the queue
To what will be the country's fate—
One nation or a Fu.

I khan not seem to get the drift,
Though like all Tain I'm seekin'—
I've read and read and read and read,
But can't get e'en a Pekin.

Of Confkin I am sore in need,
'Tis either that or fail—
And so, with no more puns on hand,
I hereby end my tael.

Important Accessories

Everybody just now is buying vanity bags—huge would-be antique receptacles decorated with gold braid, hastily tarnished for the occasion, and cords and tassels of prodigious length, not unlike the kind of thing which loops back the curtains of exhibition salons.

These bags are not exactly new, but nothing better has been invented. The old cumbersome leather affair, fitted with innumerable trifles said to be indispensable to a woman as soon as she left her dressing table for more than half an hour, is happily no more.

It condemned one ot cart about everywhere an indifferent pair of opera glasses, an absurd fan, a ridiculous workbox, an ambulance in miniature, powder and rouge and heaven knows what else. The latter may have had their justification and origin in Paris, since it is customary there to repair quite frankly in public the ravages of dust and dirt. But the former merely wasted energy and muscle which might have been devoted to a more useful purpose. For the wealthy there are perfect works of art in oyster satin covered with old point de Venise and real diamonds, which look as if they had sprung from the show cases of museums and cost accordingly.

Scarfs are undoubtedly in favor. They are seldom cheap, an dthe merest wisps of chiffon will cost quite a respectable amount. The whole point of the scarf, needless to say, is in the wearing of it. To be successful it should slip negligently off shoulders of the true Victorian slope. Unfortunately—or, perhaps, fortunately—the type hardly exists today, and the problem is how tod obtain the same result with shoulders which devotion to sport and exercise has made inelegantly square.

Everybody wears scarfs, from mere tulle trifles to gorgeosities in real lace and sable, and wears them beautifully.

DECORATED PLASTER CASTS FOR HOME

"Plaster casts," said the artist, "if you cannot afford marble or bronze statutes, certainly make for beauty in your rooms. But do not have them of a dead white tone. The faintest cream tinting or what is called, strangely enough, 'snow finish,' has a more charming effect, I think. The snow finish preserves the delicacy of detail, and its dull polish resembles the original marble very nearly.

"The Winged Victory of Samothrace is very familiar to us all, and yet its beauty could never pall. Against a deep toned background and surrounded with objects subordinate in color, the cast gives dignity to an otherwise commonplace room.

"Among the masterpieces of plaster of paris productions are the Mercury—new, wonderfully instinct with life and movement; the Gladiator, the Venus of Milo, and the Pudicitia from the Vatican.

"Nor must I forget the Mercury of Thorwaldsen and his little Dancing Girl; at which some of the superior have scoffed, which is to many, a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Place her in a dim corner and she will lighten its darkness.

"To come to bas-reliefs, these make an enchanting wall decoration if carefully chosen and placed. Donatello's Madonna and the exquisite St. Cecilia first leap to the mind's eye, but I know no panels that give life to a room in the same way as do those of Della Robbia's Singing Boys. They are, of course, particularly happy if placed in a music room.

"One never tires of these boys, with their lusty young lips, singing their hearts out.

"For a bedroom decoration a beautiful bas-relief is the Adoration of the Minato, Florence, by Luca Della Robbia, as also casts of the panels of cherubs' heads from the Church of San Antonio, Padua, by Donatello.

"The Madonnas, too, of the Della Robbias are very precious to work upon, and there is one seldom seen, but that has only to be known to be loved for its sweetness—I mean the Madonna by Andrea Della Robbia, a nephew of the great man, which is from the Riesoli palace, Florence.

"There is an exceedingly interesting collection, too, of plaster of paris heads, to be hung upon the wall, if so you desire it. To me the sight of beads hung here and there on the wall of a living room is grewsome, but that may be a peculiar idiosyncrasy.

"Whatever subject you choose, see that your cast is an accurate reproduction of the original, and that it has been severely left alone by the plaster of paris craftsman."

Coffee.

The morning coffee should be served piping hot, clear and strong. Housekeepers will always differ as to the merits of boiled or filtered coffee. Experts usually prefer the latter, contending that when prepared in this manner it best retains its aroma and richness. For the former method heat a raw egg with half a cupful of cold water, mix one-half of this with one cupful of coffee ground moderately fine, adding more cold water to make a paste. Put in the pot, add three pints of freshly boiling water; boil three minutes with stoppered nozzle. Throw in a spoonful or two of cold water, draw to the side of the fire and let stand for five minutes to settle.

Pineapple Parfait.

For this take one pint and a half of very thick cream. From a can of preserved pineapple drain off the syrup, add to it just enough lemon juice to faintly flavor; stir sufficiently of this syrup into the cream to flavor it very strongly; if not sweet enough add sugar. Soak one teaspoonful of granulated gelatine in two tablespoonfuls of cold water; when soft stand over hot water until dissolved and mix it carefully with the cream. Let stand in a cold place until the cream seems slightly thickened, then whip slowly but steadily, turning under the cream as it rises. When the mass is whipped to a solid froth turn it into a mold with a tightly fitting cover. Bind the edges with a strip of muslin dipped in melted lard and bury the mold in ice and salt. It should stand for fully four hours before serving.

CRAIG BISCUIT CO.

PLAYERS ARRIVE FOR SHRINE SHOW

Initial Performance of "Are You a Mason?" Tonight.

CURTAIN, 8 O'CLOCK

Letter perfect and completely in readiness for the opening performance of "Are You a Mason?" at the Majestic this evening, members of the big company headed by Miss Louise Dunbar arrived in the city this morning from Michigan, where the company has been en tour with "The Light Eternal." The players themselves are as enthusiastic over the Shriners' show as are the nobles of Mizpah temple, and they have thrown heart and soul into the effort to give a production that will prove a delight to Fort Wayne theater-goers this week.

Members of the band and the patrol, with other Shriners who have been added by way of "scenery" in the oriental spectacle which the Fort Wayne contingent will offer as an afterpart at each performance, are also anxious to get on in the act which they believe will be the real star feature of the entire engagement. During the past few days the Shriners have been in rigorous drill and rehearsal at Princess rink in preparation for the big show this week.

"Are You a Mason?" promises to be a social as well as a dramatic triumph, for the seat sale has been very heavy owing to the widespread interest in the engagement, which runs throughout the week with a matinee on Saturday.

Owing to the magnitude of the performance the curtain will rise promptly at 8 o'clock each evening. The scale of prices ranges from 25 cents to $1, and many seats are yet available for each performance.

TRIAL OF THE PACKERS.

More Price Fixing Telegrams Are Put in Evidence.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—Government counsel James Sheean introduced several additional telegrams received by the National Packing company at Chicago, giving the margins for the New England territory, when the trial of the ten Chicago packers, charged with criminal violation of the Sherman law, was resumed today. Isadore A. Snyder, assistant manager for the National Packing company at Boston, again took the witness stand and identified two cipher telegrams as sent by him over the company's private wire. In one telegram to the Chicago office Snyder said the reason for low prices at Lynn, Mass, was that Armour & Co. had been overshipping to that market.

In most of the telegrams read to the jury describing market conditions and margins in the New England territory, code words were used.

CONDEMNED MEN SING DIRGE.

As Man Goes to Chair They Sing "Safe in the Arms of Jesus."

Ossining, N. Y., Feb. 5.—While the condemned inmates in the death house in Sing Sing prison softly sang "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," Charles Swenton, a negro, was executed in the electric chair this morning for the murder of Isaac Lee. It was the first time in the history of the prison that the condemned have ever sung a death dirge while another has paid the penalty of his life. Swenton went to the chair cheerfully. After two shocks he was pronounced dead.

Fort Wayne Typographical Union No. 7S, at its meeting Sunday, endorsed International President James M. Lynch for re-election, and accepted an invitation from the cigarmakers and the brewery workers to attend a joint smoker and lunch to be held in Odeon hall, February 21.

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair — Dandruff Quickly Removed.

For generations Sage and Sulphur have been used for hair and scalp troubles. Almost everyone knows the value of such a combination for keeping the hair a good even color, for curing dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair, and for promoting the growth of the hair. Years ago the only way to get a Hair Tonic of this kind was to make it in the home, which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays, almost any up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully prepared in perfectly equipped laboratories.

An ideal preparation of this sort is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for scalp troubles and thin, weak hair that is losing its color or coming out. After using this remedy for a few days you will notice the color gradually coming back, your scalp will feel better, the dandruff will soon be gone, and in less than a month's time there will be a wonderful difference in your hair.

Don't neglect your hair if it is full of dandruff, losing its color or coming out. Get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist and see what a few days' treatment will do for you. All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Special Agents, Meyer Bros. Co.

of life guards in their brilliant uniforms, with shining breastplates and helmets and flowing plumes, the procession proceeded to Buckingham palace, passing through Victoria street to parliament square and then along Whitehall and the Mall through streets thronged with cheering enthusiasts.

Religious services of thanksgiving for the safe return of the king and queen from the first visit ever paid by reigning sovereigns of Great Britain to their Indian possessions will be held this afternoon in Westminster Abbey and the churches throughout the British isles.

An interesting little incident happened in Victoria street as the king's carriage passed the American embassy. King George stood up in the carriage, turned toward the embassy and saluted the stars and stripes flying over the entrance. His majesty's action drew an additional cheer from the crowd gathered in the vicinity.

Tremendous Enthusiasm.

The enthusiasm of the crowds reached its climax at Buckingham palace. After their majesties had entered the thousands of people who had assembled around the railings sang vigorously "God Save the King," "Auld Lang Syne," "Home, Sweet Home" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Their majesties responded to this demonstration by appearing on the balcony of the first floor when they were greeted with salvo after salvo of cheering.

Dickinson, postmaster at Champlain, N. Y. The son declared that he was in no way responsible for Mrs. Taylor's death. At the elder Dickinson's request, the coroner's examination of the younger man was postponed until Wednesday.

SIX MAY DIE AS RESULT OF BURNS

Family at Hammond Badly Injured When Home is Consumed.

RESCUES ARE HEROIC

Hammond, Ind., Feb. 5.—Trapped in a burning house in different rooms on the second floor, members of a family of six were so badly burned Sunday that their recovery is in doubt. The victims are Fred Berckuer, aged 42, father of the family; Anna Berckner, aged 37, mother; William, age ten; Katie, age 7; Mary, age 4, and Fred, age 2 months. The screams of one of the children awoke the father. The house, a frame structure, burst into flames just as the inmates left their beds. The father took one child to the window, carried one under each arm and the mother took one down the burning stairs, making heroic rescues but suffering terrible injuries. The thermometer stood at 15 below and before the victims could be taken to St. Margaret's hospital they suffered from exposure.

HALT IN WHITECAP TRIAL.

Weather Prevents Arrival of Jurors and Witnesses.

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 5.—On account of the cold weather and the bad conditions of the roads, it was impossible for several of the jurors and many witnesses in the Silas Adams whitecap case to reach Bloomington until noon today, and the case was not taken up until 1:30 o'clock. The prosecution closed its direct testimony Saturday and the defense hopes to finish by tomorrow at noon. If this is done the case will go to the jury Wednesday morning. The defense will be an alibi and a strong point for the defendant will be made of the fact that there was no motive why he should taken part in the whitecaping. Adams and McFarland are said to have been on friendly terms and never to have had trouble.

OPPOSE TYPHOID VACCINE.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 5.—The plan of inoculating the whole Wisconsin guard with anti-typhoid vaccine, is stirring up considerable opposition. Christian Scientsts and others, who have scruples against such measures, have voiced objections in letters sent to Dr. M. P. Ravenel, director of the state hygienic laboratory, which has offered to vaccinate the militiamen free of charge. The vaccination will not be compulsory, however.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY IS MYSTERIOUS

Man, Wife and Daughter Are Murdered in an Oklahoma Town.

SCANDAL JOINS CRIME

Oklahoma City, Okla., Feb. 5.—Disclosures made to a coroner's jury investigating a triple tragedy at Delaware this forenoon added more mystery than light to the murder of Harvey Hurst, his wife and their young kinswoman, Elsie Adams.

The jury discovered that both Mrs. Hurst and her 16-year-old relative were in delicate condition. Arrest of a young man who has called frequently at the Hurst home is hinted at, but the coroner's jury seemed to fear it lacked convincing evidence. It failed to fix blame upon anyone.

The Hurst home was burned last night. Not until this morning were the bodies of Hurst, his wife and Miss Adams found. Simultaneously it was discovered they had been murdered, there being gaping wounds in the skull of each. Apparently the wounds had been inflicted by a heavy hammer while Hurst, his wife and their young kinswoman slept. The slayer evidently aimed to cover up his work by cremation. Witnesses volunteered to tell of seeing a man running from the direction of the Hurst home last night, but this testimony developed nothing specific.

All You Need Is a Cascaret Tonight

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels By Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver, and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken. adv

HISTORIC MANSION BURNS.

Show Place at Springfield, Md., Destroyed by Fire.

Sykesville, Md., Feb. 5.—The historic mansion at Springfield, birthplace of "Betsy" Patterson and later the home of former Governor Frank Brown, was burned to the ground early today and practically all its contents destroyed.

The building had been used in late years as the residence and office of Dr. J. Clement Clark, superintendent of the Springfield state asylum for the insane.

Filled with relics, the mansion was a show place for lovers of Maryland history. To every visitor was pointed out the window from which "Betsy" Patterson jumped to mount her horse to ride to Baltimore and meet Jerome Bonaparte, whom she was later to marry.

Tilghams, Md., Feb. 5.—Three of the oyster boats with six men blown away from this habor during the gale yesterday are still unaccounted for. They are supposed to be somewhere in the Choptank river, the water of which is now freezing. It is feared that unless the men are soon found they will either starve or freeze to death, even if they can prevent the boats from sinking.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meinzen, 1120 Maumee avenue, will leave this evening for Cincinnati, to attend the funeral of Gerhard Meinzen, aged 14 years, a nephew of Mr. Meinsen, whose death occurred Friday at Cincinnati. James McNeil Whistler was dining with a friend in London. Suddenly Whistler said that he had almost forgotten it, but he absolutely must write a letter and get it off by the night's post. He was told that in a room at the head of the first flight of stairs he would find the lights burning and pens, paper and ink at his disposal. He went up, and presently there was heard a series of bumps, ending in a heavy thud at the foot of the stairs. The master had tripped, lost his balance and came near having a bad fall. The host ran to him and asked him if he was hurt. "I am not killed, if that's what you mean!" Whistler replied; "but, tell me, who built those stairs?" The host mentioned the name of a builder unknown either to Whistler or to fame. "Humph, he did?" etc., said Whistler. "The d——d tee totaler."

DRUG FIENDS

More Than a Million in U. S.

According to a report recently issued by order of Dr. Wiley, of "pure food" fame, there are between one million and four million victims of the drug habit in the United States.

Most of these were influenced to the use of drugs through over-indulgence in proprietary medicines and "remedies" containing opium, cocaine, caffeine and like insidious elements. The unprincipled advertisers of consumption cures and cough syrups have been most industrious in this nefarious traffic.

Never use drugs for a cold. Half an ounce of virgin oil of pine, mixed with two ounces of glycerine and half a pint of pure whiskey, is recommended by health authorities as the quickest and most effective cough remedy.

Oil of pine is prepared, in its purest form, by the Leach Chemical Company, of Cincinnati, O., and may be had at any drug store. It can be mixed at home, and is absolutely safe and free from the dangers that attend the use of drugs.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE.

Do not sap the springs of life by neglect of the human mechanism, by allowing the accumulation of poisons in the system. An imitation of Nature's method of restoring waste of tissue and impoverishment of the blood and nervous strength is to take an alterative glyceric extract (without alcohol) of Golden Seal and Oregon grape root, Bloodroot, Stone and Mandrake root with Cherrybark. Over 40 years ago Dr. Pierce gave to the public this remedy, which he called Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. He found it would help the blood in taking up the proper elements from food, help the liver into activity, thereby throwing out the poisons from the blood and vitalizing the whole system as well as allaying and soothing a cough.

No one ever takes cold unless constipated, or exhausted, and having what we call mal-nutrition, which is attended with impoverished blood and exhaustion of nerve force. The "Discovery" is an all-round tonic which restores tone to the blood, nerves and heart by imitating Nature's methods of restoring waste of tissue, and feeding the nerves, heart and lungs on rich red blood.

MRS. DORN.

"I suffered from pain under my right shoulder blade also a very severe cough," writes Mrs. W. DORN, of New Brookland, S. C., to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y. "Had four different doctors and none did me any good. Some said I had consumption, others said I would have to have an operation. I was bedridden, unable to sit up for six months—and was nothing but a live skeleton. You advised me to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. When I had taken one bottle of the 'Discovery' I could sit up for an hour at a time, and when I had taken three bottles I could do my cooking and tend to the children. I took fourteen bottles in all and was then in good health. My weight is now 167 pounds.

CY ALBERTS HAS ASKED FOR MORE

Salary Does Not Suit and He Says He Will Not Sign Up.

CLUB GETS A NAME

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 5.—Fred "Cy" Alberts, favorite of Terre Haute fans, is a holdout.

The ball club has a brand new name.

These were the two morsels handed out today by Aggie Grant for the delectation of local fans.

From the chilled fastnesses of Fort Wayne comes the announcement that the veteran twirler on the string of the ex-Miners is gazing ruefully at an unsigned contract, which sets forth that if he plays ball in a Terre Haute uniform this season he will do so at a decidedly reduced figure.

While Manager Grant is not disposed to talk much about the affair, it is believed that the new management has come to the conclusion that "Cy" pulled down a bit too much of the long green last year for the work that he gave in exchange.

"I guess Alberts is not satisfied with his contract," said Grant last night, and then he hastened to change the subject. Always diplomatic, the boss of the home club is not going to risk a break in the negotiations by talking too much at this stage of the game.

"Cy" is demanding as much as he received last season, and intimates in terms that lack but little of being forcible that he will not play unless he gets his figure.

W. C. Ball has been awarded the season pass to all home Central league games this season for suggesting a name that struck the management in the right spot. Now and henceforth, according to Manager Grant and Secretary "Billy" Wayland, the men who trot in a Terre Haute uniform will be known as the "Terre-Irs." To begin with, it is a new way of spelling an old word. Another reason given by Grant for selecting this title, is that it carries part of the name of the home town; and it also gives the busy cartoonist an opportunity to display his genius. For instance, if the team is winning, the dogs can be depicted as having the invaders on the run. If they are hanging on to first or last place, as the case may be, the Terre-Irs can be pictured as hanging on for keeps to the seat of the other fellow's trousers. Likewise, if they strike a losing streak, it will be easy to draw a picture showing a cur with his tail between his hind legs, sneaking down a back street. But here's hoping that the latter opportunity will never be presented.

Grant has announced that March 25, or within a day or two one way or the other, will be reporting time for the recruits. An even dozen men, including the boss, are on the list of those who have signed contracts and more are expected every day. Four infielders, two outfielders, four pitchers and two catchers comprise the dozen who have come to terms. The latest man to join the Terre-Irs is R. C. Dickerson, a former DePauw star. The lad is a southpaw and played last season with Marion of the Northern Indiana league. James Woody, of Kingman, Ind., an outfielder, who also played with the Northern Indiana circuit until it went up in smoke, has come to terms. He hit over .300 last season, is an ambitious youngster, weighs 160 pounds and is 5 feet, 11 inches tall. "He is built like a ball player," says Grant, "and I believe he will make good."

SPRINGFIELD SIGNING UP MEN.

Springfield, O., Feb. 5.—While other clubs in the greater Central league are talking about holdouts the members of the Reapers are fast getting in line and President Watkins is confident that all of them will have signed up before the end of the present month.

Catchers McKee and Blackburn, Outfilder Farrell and First Baseman Markey have sent in their signed contracts. They were received yesterday afternoon by President Watkins at his Indianapolis office.

WILL TACKLE CHURUBUSCO.

The Lyceum A. A. basketball team will play Churubusco Wednesday evening at the Lyceum gym. The "Busco team is a strong one and has defeated Columbia City, Winona, and other independent clubs. Captain Brown has two or three new recruits to try out and expects to put up a good exhibition.

CHAMPION MOVES ON.

Will Go to New Orleans for His Match With Frankie Burns.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 5.—Johnny Coulon, who bested Frankie Conley in twenty rounds Saturday, will move on to New Orleans, where he makes another stand in defense of the bantamweight championship on February 18, his opponent being Frankie Burns, the Jersey jabber.

Conley will go to the mountains for a rest of a month before talking fight again. The Kenosha boy has been training and boxing almost continuously for the past six months. He has twice met Joe Rivers and has boxed Johnny Kilbane, Patsy Kline and Coulon.

WHEELING FRANCHISE SOLD.

E. J. Anderson and E. H. Robinson Buy Stogies.

Edward J. "Goat" Anderson and E. H. Robinson, secretary of the team, have bought the Wheeling franchise. The negotiations were carried on through Dr. F. R. Carson, who left Claude H. Varnell to close up the deal.

Anderson is a good ball player and will be the manager. Robinson has been traveling with the club for several years and is a capable official. The price was not given.

Mrs. C. R. Colmey, who has been critically ill at the Lutheran hospital following a surgical operation, is now reported to be improving nicely.

THE WAYNE KNITS ARE LEADING THE SHOP BOWLING LEAGUE

Fred Bartels, Ed Hilker, Lawrence Wichman, Herb Miller, Walter Koenig and Frank "Chick" Carr.

With a good lead and a comparatively short time to bowl the members of the Wayne Knits, of the Manufacturers' league are confident of winning the championship in the race. The players have no other team than the Fort Wayne Printing company's five to fear, but four more victories will insure first place.

All of the bowlers have been working consistently through the season and are entitled to the place although the Printers form a strong combination and with a little better start in the race would have made it very interesting.

SPORTLETS

Erie boosters sold 170 season tickets in a day to help carry the Central league club through the season.

Jack Ernst, Canton catcher, has announced that he will retire from baseball this season and has returned his unsigned contract.

George Jackson, the Boston Nationals' slugging outfielder, is a hold-out. President John Ward is having a lot of trouble in getting his stars to sign.

Judging from the number of hold-outs in the big leagues this year, the two outlaw leagues now forming, should have no trouble getting all the players they need.

Tony Walsh, counted on by Terre Haute to take the place of John Somerlott at first base, has asked to be traded as he does not want to get far away from his sick wife at Plymouth, Pa.

President Powers, of the Columbian Outlaw league, claims his organization will have Lefty Leifield and Vin Campbell of the Pirates on its St. Louis team, with Ed Konetchy as first baseman and manager.

Clark Griffith has failed to land George Moriarity from the Detroit club for a cash consideration. Manager Jennings now says that he never made any offer to sell Moriarity to any one.

If Harry Wolverton goes to third base the coming season and sends Roy Hartzel to the outfield, he will have to favor himself a lot more than he should, for the manager is a lot slower than he used to be and he never was a whirlwind in getting around.

Zanesville Signal: The first hold-out of the club is that of "Kid" Reilley, whose torn up contract was received at baseball headquarters Friday afternoon. Reilley acted real peeved over the matter, and because his salary was given quite a cut, he proceeded to tear up the contract and sent the torn fragments to the directors.

Applications are coming into the Cub headquarters for the position of batboy for the coming season. Since the report has been circulated that Red, the batboy, has refused to sign, there have been plenty of batboys ready to take his place.

Fred Tenney, veteran first baseman and manager last year for the Boston Doves, was offered to the Lockouts. His contract with the Bostons does not end until the close of this year, and this contract calls for $5,000. Of course, Tenney will have to get this "mazum" whether he plays or not.

Springfield News: James Brown, the ambidextrous twirler, will be given a try-out by Manager Bade Myers' Quincy, Ill., team of the Three I league the coming season. Brown, who is said to be the only heaver who can pitch equally well with either arm, is well known to local fans, having performed on the mound for the Antioch college team several years ago. He pitched several games at Champion park and his work attracted attention.

WAGNER SAYS NERVE IS NECESSARY

"Football requires nerve. Almost any chap can play base ball."

Hans Wagner had this oft-repeated declaration made to him recently and the Pirate shortstop indulged in a little analysis in taking the opposite tack to the argument.

Biographers have given Honus an exclusive liking for fishing and hunting—nothing else. Yet it is a fact that as a football fan he is quite as enthusiastic as the average base ball fan and he probably has as many football heroes in his mind's eye as the average fan has base ball stars. Like Mathewson he likes football better than base ball, personally. But he does not stand for the argument that the pigskin chasers have cornered the market in nerve.

"There are a hundred little spots in the game of base ball where the streak will show in a man who hasn't the nerve," says Honus. "Football is a great game and I like to watch it, but base ball has not any room for men who are shy on nerve to stand a strain or take the bumps.

"Doesn't it take just a little nerve for a man or boy to stand up to a plate and have that terrible speed of a hard ball whizzing by his letters or forehead? Doesn't it take nerve to risk the dangers of stepping in when you haven't any sure thing on what is coming? Doesn't it require nerve to slide into a bag when a ball is being thrown like a bullet to get you and you haven't any guarantee that the ball is not going to bounce off your head or face?

"They must admit that it takes more or less nerve anyhow to play base ball. I have never seen a man who entirely lacks nerve try to play the game. Doesn't a pitcher need a lot of nerve to stand the gaff in a losing or a close fight? Aren't there a dozen ways in which a man can get hurt and where he takes long chances just as in football?"

Wagner loves to watch a football game and he knows the rules and the plays thoroughly. He is annually posted on the changes and revisions and in the make-ups of the big teams. Concerning base ball with him it probably is a case of familiarity breeding contempt. For recreation he therefore prefers to watch a football game. Yet he isn't inclined to swallow the argument that a weakling can hold his own with base ball.

Little furnished a little first aid in the shape of a trio of good games in which he tabbed 212 for his best effort. Rose and McGinnis fought it out for average on the losing team and by running better than a double in the last game the latter won. The scores follow:

The Wolf & Dessauer five is giving chase and is the runner up in the battle with the Berghoffs five games back and one series postponed.

Billy Williams cut in with three good scores for his week's work and is at the top of the heap, with Will Doehrman holding his own and Ed Harkenrider and Ot Sander in position to overhaul the leaders at any time.

With half the season gone the men are in excellent form and the combat from now on until the close promises to be most interesting. The individual averages for the week follow:

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON

No case of contagious blood poison is ever cured until the last particle of the virus has been removed from the circulation. The least taint left in the blood will sooner or later, cause a fresh outbreak of the trouble, with all its hideous and destructive symptoms of ulcerated mouth and throat, copper colored splotches, falling hair, sores and ulcers, etc. No other medicine so surely cures contagious blood poison as S. S. S. It goes down into the blood and steadily and surely drives out every particle of the infection. It absolutely and perfectly purifies the blood, and leaves this vital fluid as fresh, rich and healthy as it was before the destructive virus of contagious blood poison entered the circulation. S. S. S. quickly takes effect on the blood, and gradually the symptoms disappear, the health is improved, the skin cleared of all spots, sores and other blemishes, the hair stops coming out, the mouth and throat heal and when S. S. S. has cleansed the system of the poison no trace of the disease is left. S. S. S. cures contagious blood poison because it is the greatest of all blood purifiers, tested and proven for more than forty years. WAGES OF SIN IS DEATH SHE SAYS logies, but my friend, there comes to all of us some time, the knowledge that the law and religion are right. What they say we shalt not do—we cannot do without suffering. I have learned that. Also, wages of sin is death. It's worse than death—it's hell on earth."

The authorities say that the young couple undoubtedly made a previous but unsuccessful attempt at suicide last week by taking poison. A physician told the officers that he had been called in and found that Noble had taken some drug and that Mrs. Noble looked pale and ill herself.

Mrs. Noble is believed have sought, even after her marriage with Noble, a reconciliation with her former husband, Walter Suydam, and to have told him the fearful mistake she had made in running away with the young plumber.

Mrs. Noble will be buried in Philadelphia in the family plot of an aunt. Noble's body will be shipped today to Patchogue, L. I., for burial.

The bodies of Noble and his bride of a month were found in their New York apartment. The couple had been asphyxiated by gas.

Bodies Are Discovered.

The suicide pact, the discovery of its results by Mrs. John J. White, of Washington, D. C., the mother of Mrs. Noble, and other features of the case were sensational.

Mrs. White, who has an apartment on Lexington avenue, had her daughter as a visitor Saturday night and supposed she would remain overnight. When, however, Mrs. White awoke Sunday morning she found that her daughter had left the house.

Mrs. White hurried to the daughter's apartment on West Twelfth street in her automobile. She became alarmed when there was no answer to her repeated knocks and summoned two policemen, who forced an entrance.

Door is Barricaded.

The entrance door had been barricaded with chairs and tables and the doors of all the rooms of the large apartment also were locked and barricaded. When the party forced its way to the diningroom the odor of gas was first detected and the mother became hysterical.

Breaking through the next door, which led into the kitchen, the party found Noble and his wife lying dead on the floor, their heads almost inside the oven of the gas range. They were partly undressed and clasped in each other's arms.

All Windows Bolted.

The woman was clad in a silk kimono and she lay with Noble's left arm encircling her body, their faces being close together. Every window in the apartment was closed and bolted.

Mrs. White, who was the first to see the bodies, shrieked and fainted. She was carried to a physician's office and resuscitated with difficulty.

The couple left no notes to explain their act, but the police were convinced that it was a case of double suicide. The coroner also declared that the circumstances left no doubt that such was the case.

Suydam is Summoned.

A few minutes after the discovery Mrs. Noble's former husband, Walter Lispenard Suydam, was summoned by telephone, and arrived quickly in his automobile. He was much affected. He was not allowed to view the body, which later was given over to the custody of the mother.

Employes at the apartment house said that Suydam frequently had visited his divorced wife since her marriage to the young plumber. When asked what he thought might have been the motive of the suicide pact Suydam said:

"I can't tell you anything. She isn't mine now, and I am only here as a friend to see what I can do."

Finds Check for $110.

Mr. Suydam picked up in the apartment a check for $110, which he said his former wife had told him yesterday she had drawn on his account. He put the check in his pocket.

Suydam was so unnerved by the tragedy that later when driving his automobile on Fifth avenue he ran down Edward Rappold, a mail carrier. He took the injured man to a hospital, leaving orders that no expense be spared in treating his injuries. It was said that the man would recover.

In the absence of explanatory notes the motive of the suicides will probably never be known. The woman was still in the twenties. She was married to Suydam about nine years ago and the couple made their home on a magnificent estate at Blue Point, Long Island.

Elopement Caused Stir.

Early last fall sensational reports developed regarding her mysterious disappearance. The sensation was heightened when it turned out that she had deserted her wealthy husband to be with Noble, the son of a Brooklyn plumber. Noble was learning the plumbing trade. Suydam instituted divorce proceedings and obtained a decree.

The divorced wife afterward married the plumber's son. The wedding took place in Jersey City just a month ago, and the couple established a home at 82 West Twelfth street, where the suicide pact terminated the romance today.

DIES OF BULLET WOUND.

Accidental Discharge of Rifle Costs Vaudeville Actor Life.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 5.—The accidental discharge of a rifle caused the death here today of George Rudolph, 18, who for months, as a member of a vaudeville troup, had held the wand in his mouth while an egg balanced on the end of it was shattered by John C. Ray, a crack shot. While Ray was cleaning his rifle in the dressing room of a local theater last Wednesday the weapon was discharged, the bullet entering Rudolph's breast.

Symptoms Are Warnings to Wise Men.

The publication of the prescription of a famed physician would prove fruitless to hundreds of men if unable to recognize the necessity for its use. It is not the intention or desire of the writer to mislead or frighten by painting the horrors suffered by the prematurely aged, but rather is it the desire to state plain facts. The peculiar affliction which destroys ambition, organic strength, energy and hope is accompanied by some of the following symptoms, if not by all: Dull, sunken eyes; thinness (or abnormal fatness), cold extremities, backache, weakness in the spine, twitching, spots before the eyes, pains in back of head, headache, trembling, fatigue, shringing of the skin, flabby flesh, impaired memory, sleeplessness, loss of appetite, constipation, kidney derangements and a general unpreparedness for emergencies of all sorts.

The right kind of medical treatment will effectually overcome such warning symptoms and restore normal conditions if persistently used for a few short weeks.

Any one can buy the ingredients and mix the medicines of this prescription at home as it contains no poisonous opiates whatever.

The instructions for mixing at home secretly so that no embarrassment may be felt, are as follows: First get three ounces syrup sarsaparilla compound and one ounce compound fluid balmwort; mix and let stand two hours. Then add one ounce compound essence cardiol and one ounce tincture cadomene compound (not cardamom), and mix all together. The directions are to take one teaspoonful after each meal and one when retiring, until bounding health and full strength are restored. Even a few weeks will witness most wonderful results.

FIRE LOSS OF $5,000 AT POE

Fine Home of Martin Reinking is Wiped Out by Flames.

FIRES HERE SUNDAY

Fire at 7 o'clock this morning entirely destroyed the handsome twelve-room residence of Martin Reinking, at Poe, south of Fort Wayne, entailing a loss estimated at $5,000 with insurance for half that sum.

The blaze is believed to have originated from a furnace pipe, and when first noticed it had gained considerable headway between the walls, sweeping upward into an upper room that was unoccupied. Neighbors formed a fire-fighting brigade, but could not bring the blaze under control. The furniture in the lower portion of the house was carried out, but that in the upper rooms was destroyed with the home.

Campbell Home Burned.

With the thermometer far below zero and frozen fire hydrants to cause delay in fighting the flames, the residence of Benjamin F. Campbell, 2525 South Webster street, was damaged to the extent of $2,500 by fire at 8 o'clock Sunday morning. The entire upper part of the house was burned away. The loss is believed to be covered by insurance.

The fire when first discovered by Mr. Campbell was centered about the electric meter, and he attempted to extinguish it by means of a small garden hose attached to a faucet. When he saw this was impossible and he sought to telephone the fire department he found his line out of order and was compelled to go to the home of a neighbor to send in the alarm. To add to the ill-luck, firemen found the only two fire plugs available frozen solidly and some time was required to thaw them out before water could be played upon the flames, while the cold was so intense that the spray turned to ice upon the clothing of the firemen. Mr. Campbell is an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad.

The residence of Mrs. Katherine Murphy, adjoining the Campbell home, was damaged by the heat to the extent of $100.

Sent in Still Alarm.

Night Watchman Jack Laughlin discovered fire which had caught from a grate in the home of D. C. Fisher, 130 West Wayne street, at 2 o'clock Sunday morning and sent in a still alarm, to which the chemical engine from No. 3 station responded. The loss is placed at $50.

Firemen Are Injured.

R. J. Miller, driver of the truck at No. 2 engine house, and Frank Miller, his brother, who is driver of the hose wagon at No. 8 engine house, both suffered injury in fighting the flames at the Campbell home Sunday morning. R. J. Miller had his neck severely burned by falling over a rafter, and is off duty as the result of his injury. Frank Miller had the tips of both of his ears froze, and it is feared that he may lose the upper part of his ears as the result.

Before he was well known Wendell Phillips, the abolitionist, went to Charleston and put up at a hotel. He had breakfast served in his room and was waited upon by a slave. Mr. Phillips seized the opportunity to represent to the negro in a pathetic way that he regarded him as a man and brother. The negro, however, seemed more anxious about his breakfast than he was about his position in the social scale. Phillips became discouraged and told him to go away, saying that he could not bear to be waited on by a slave. "You must 'scuse me, massa," said the negro; "I is 'bliged to stay here 'cause I'm 'sponsible for the silverware."

PROMISES TO BEAT RECORD

February Business on G. R. & I. Starts Out Very Heavy.

COMPANY BORROWING SOME LOCOMOTIVES

Engineer Kensill Smashes Speed Record for Ten Car Train.

February promises to be a record breaker in the movement of freight over the Grand Rapids and Indiana road if weather and other conditions are favorable for handling trains. The company is handicapped, however, by lack of power and is borrowing engines wherever they can get them. Seven from the Pennsylvania railroad have been in service on the G. R. & I. for a week or more and two, Nos. 7935 and 7856, from the Panhandle, were received and put in service today.

HAD 891 FIRES LAST YEAR.

Pennsy's Department Extinguished 450 of Them.

Striking results of the strenuous efforts the Pennsylvania railroad is making to reduce losses from fire on its system are shown in figures from the annual report of the insurance department of the railroad, issued today. Four hundred and fifty fires, occurring in 1911 on company property valued at $11,500,000, were extinguished by the railroad's own employes with the company's apparatus.

In the past five years the Pennsylvania railroad has enlarged its own fire-fighting system, and has so improved its methods of inspection that company employes now extinguish many fires which formerly would have gained much headway and caused consequent losses. In 1907, company employes extinguished 195 fires, in 1908 this number grew to 274, and in 1909 to 321, while 1910 and 1911 showed equal increases in the efficiency of the company's fire-fighting system. Locomotives in yards, equipped with special apparatus for use in case of fire, were instrumental in extinguishing forty-three fires last year.

A circular was issued today by the insurance department giving the causes of all fires on the Pennsylvania system east and west of Pittsburg in 1911, in order that the employes might realize that their efforts to minimize losses from fire are appreciated, and further, that their attention might be called to the number of fires occurring from preventable causes.

Including the fires to which city fire departments were called, a total loss of only $304,975 resulted from 891 fires on Pennsylvania railroad system property during 1911. This loss was exceedingly small, comparatively, as the value of the property endangered was in the hundreds of millions.

From forty-two fires which started on adjacent property, the company sustained a loss of $19,833.58. Spontaneous combustion was responsible for a loss of $86,707.12 from twenty-two fires. Sixteen fires resulted from the careless handling of lighted cigars, cigarettes and matches, causing a loss of $30,740.70. Ten fires, with a loss of $5,132.85, were of incendiary origin, while tramps were responsible for nine fires with a loss of $2,606.32. From unknown causes, sixty-two fires occurred during the year, resulting in a loss to the company of $28,709.29.

BADLY CONGESTED EAST.

Cold Weather Plays Havoc on the Nickel Plate.

The freight congestion east of Cleveland, on the Nickel Plate, is spreading and freight is being tied up on this end of the line as a result. All of the sidings have more or less of it and the weather conditions yesterday prevented the great "cleaning up" planned by the officials. Unless the weather modifies soon the Nickel Plate will be experiencing the worst congestion in its history in a few days. Pretty near the same condition exists on the Wabash, where there is a scarcity of locomotives. Freight has accumulated at all points beyond the power of the company to move it, but so far no serious congestion has occurred.

WILL BE A CANDIDATE.

J. E. J. Hebert Will Seek Honors From Relief.

John E. J. Hebert, machinist in the annex to the Pennsylvania main machine shop, said this morning that he had decided to make the race for committeeman from the Western division, on the board of the Pennsylvania Relief association. This will be his second race. So far two men have announced their candidacy for this position. The other one is James E. Whyte, foreman of one of the departments at the round house. Each has a strong following and it will be impossible to forecast the result of the contest.

MADE A GOOD RUN.

Ten Car Train Goes to Chicago in 138 Minutes.

Engine No. 7217, one of the new passenger locomotives which is equipped with a superheater system and a mechanical stoker, took the Chicago Limited, No. 23, from this city to Chicago last Thursday in two hours and eighteen minutes. The train was made up of ten of the largest passenger cars and the trip is said to be the best yet made by so heavy a train. Engineer George Kensill and Fireman D. S. Winner were in the cab.

LYNCH IS ENDORSED.

At the meeting of Typographical union, No. 78, yesterday afternoon, James M. Lynch, of Indianapolis, was given unanimous endorsement for international president of the union. Mr. Lynch has occupied that position several years and is one of the most prominent of the leaders of labor unions in the country. J. L. Sessler, secretary treasurer of No. 78, reported the finances of the local in good shape and the membership 115 in good standing. The union also approved the arrangements for the coming of John Mitchell to make an address in the interest of union labor, and an invitation from the Cigarmakers and Brewery Workers to attend a smoker and social session February 21, was read and accepted.

RELIEF UNION EXCURSION.

President John J. Bauer, of the Relief Union of the Fort Wayne Electric works, says that he will call the men who have been appointed on the committee of arrangements for the 1912 excursion of the union together this week to discuss matters and complete arrangements for the outing as far as possible at this early date. The place of holding the outing will be an important part of the discussion. The committee is composed of the following men: Fred Fleming, Frank G. Heller, E. K. Allen, Cash Lutz, George Kress, Charles Racque, Charles Bremmer, Gene Potter, S. A. Bickel, Rob Ferguson, Ben Krasch, William Franke, George W. Heller, T. W. Bauer, Rob Gallmer, Bert Pequignot, William Haag, Peter Neuman and William Bertleman.

FITTING UP REST ROOMS.

A rest room and restaurant will be a feature of the management of the General Electric Lamp works on Holman street, beginning March 1. The food is to be of a plain, wholesome character and will be sold to the employes at cost, making it possible for them to get a good noonday meal much cheaper than they could secure one at the public restaurants. Saturday the contracts for furnishing the rooms were let and the silverware to be used on the tables, which came from the east, has already arrived.

WILL STUDY NEW ENGINES.

As stated by The Sentinel Saturday the Pennsylvania has put seven passenger engines that are equipped with mechanical stokers and superheaters in service on the Western division. This week schools of instructions will be held each afternoon at the assembly room of the Railroad Y. M. C. A. for the benefit of the engineers and firemen who will have charge of these new style engines. The management of the steam heating apparatus of passenger trains will also be a feature of the schools this week.

HERE OVER SUNDAY.

Machinist George Swart and Clerk John Bostick, of the Wabash, who are engaged in inspection and clerical work during the repairs on twenty-five engines at Lima for the company, were here to spend Sunday with their relatives. The Lima works will soon commence to turn out engines for the Wabash and when they once start, they will come at the rate of about three a week.

RETURNS TO FORT WAYNE.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hobrock, who have resided in Detroit for a year or two, are again residents of Fort Wayne. Mr. Hobrock was formerly connected with the Detroit office of S. F. Bowser & Co., but he has been transferred to the general sales department and will travel out of Fort Wayne. This change is a promotion for Mr. Hobrock.

MR. COTTER GOING EAST.

S. E. Cotter, general superintendent of the Wabash, is en route from St. Louis to Detroit and will pass through Fort Wayne in his private car attached to the Continental Limited at 5 o'clock this evening. The division officials will accompany Mr. Cotter over this end of the line.

MANY SHOPMEN ARE SICK.

The cold weather is having its effect upon the absentee lists at the Pennsylvania shops, which are larger than they have been at any previous time this winter. This morning new names on the list were E. F. W. Hambrock, J. Puchanski, T. R. Mueller, A. W. Meyers, G. R. Aiken, C. F. Brown and F. J. Palmer.

SICK AND INJURED REPORTED.

FRANK MANNIX LEAVES TOMORROW.

Frank J. Mannix, of Silsbee, Texas, will leave for that city tomorrow. He was called here to attend the funeral of his brother, Will Manix. Mr. Mannix is foreman of a railway machine shop in Silsbee.

CASTING FELL ON FOOT.

S. C. East, a foreman of laborers in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, sustained injuries to one of his feet Saturday, which have put him out of commission. A casting fell on the member and bruised and sprained it badly.

NEW BILL CLERK.

JEALOUS OF HIS 15-YEAR-OLD SON

Mrs. Tenney Says Husband Roughly Handled Her Woman Frien.

DECREE BY DEFAULT

St. Louis, Feb. 5.—Mrs. Margaret Nash Tenney testified in her divorce suit at Clayton that her husband, Fred D. Tenney, was jealous of their son, Rollin, now fifteen years old, and of all relatives, male or female. She got a decree by default and was awarded custody of the boy. Tenney, she said, is in San Francisco.

Tenney's jealousy was so extreme that it often prompted him to feign suicide and make threats of killing himself, Mrs. Tenney and other witnesses said. Mrs. P. M. Grehl, sister of Mrs. Tenney and wife of the East St. Louis manager for the Pabst Brewing company, testified that she once heard Tenney breathing heavily in his room, and on entering found him lying apparently in a coma.

On the floor lay three letters, addressed "To My Wife," "To My Mother" and "To the Coroner," and a small bottle marked "Poison." The letters gave directions as to the disposal of Tenney's property. As the bottle was found to contain nothing more virulent than coffee the directions were not followed, Mrs. Grehl said.

Mrs. Tenney said that on one occasion when she and her husband were returning in a crowded car from an amusement park he became so jealous of a woman friend with whom she was sitting that he roughly pulled the woman from the seat and took it himself.

He also had a habit of calling his son by telephone, she said, and telling him that he must be a good boy if he never saw his father again.

The Tenneys were married in Memphis in 1893 and came to St. Louis in 1907. They separated June 15, 1908, when Tenney left in anger and did not return, Mrs. Tenney said.

Mrs. Tenney appeared in court handsomely gowned.

ICY WHIRLPOOL HOLDING BODIES

cepting that those persons had not returned to their hotel.

It is known that they started for the ice bridge about an hour before the sudden release of tons of ice below the falls swept it away. The father of Burrell Hecock, age 17, of Cleveland, the third victim, arrived today. After a look at the ice piled gorge he said he had no hope of ever seeing the body of his son, who after being drawn by a rope part way up the cantilever bridge slipped back exhausted into the river.

The great ice bridge that has choked the river cannel between the Cataract and the upper steel-arch bridge below the falls for the last three weeks broke from its shoring at noon yesterday and went down the river, taking with it to their death a man and woman and Burrell Hecock.

Five other persons were on the ice at the time, but managed to get ashore in safety.

Hundreds Narrowly Escape.

Had the accident happened an hour later hundreds would have lost their lives, for the crowd was moving into Prospect park in the elevators that run down the cliff for the purpose of venturing out upon the ice.

Somewhere deep in the great whirlpool last night slept the man, partially identified as Mr. Stanton, who twice put aside chances of rescue in order to remain with his terror-stricken wife, and who, in the shadow of death—just at the break in the rapids—spurned assistance for himself and attempted to bind about the woman's body a rope dangling from the lower steel-arch bridge.

Lad Sacrifices Life.

The lad, Burrell Hecock, was cast in the same mold. Had he not turned back on the ice to give assistance to the man he, too, might have made the shore.

On the bridge at the time it tore free from the shore besides these three were Monroe Gilbert, of this city; Ignatius Roth, of Cleveland, Hecock's companion; William Hill, an old river man; William Lablond, a river man, and an unidentified Italian.

Hill's shack was nearest to the American shore. When he heard the grinding and crashing of the ice he ran at top speed toward the Canadian shore, calling to the others to follow him.

Victims Became Confused.

Lablond gave them warning that safety lay in that direction. Gilbert and the Italian followed their lead, but the others became confused. By the time they had regained their composure the bridge was moving fast down the river.

The man and woman started first toward the American shore, but they were stopped by a lane of open water. Back they ran again toward the Canadian side, turned about and made for the American side. When hardly more than fifty yards from the rocky shore the woman fell on her face, utterly spent.

"I can't go on; I can't go on," she cried. "Let me die here."

Try to Drag Woman.

As the woman fell the man strove to get her to her feet again, and tried to drag her along the ice, calling for assistance to Roth and Hecock, who were nearest. Hecock turned back to the couple and helped support the woman. The act cost him his life.

The bridge was considered perfectly safe. For weeks the great fields of ice had been coming down the river, piling up against the barrier until it was from sixty to eighty feet thick, and under the influence of zero weather the great mass had become firmly anchored to the shore.

The jam was about 1,000 feet in length, and in some places a quarter of a mile in breadth. For two weeks it had offered safe passage to the hardy.

Thousands Line Shore.

Word that the ice bridge had gone out flashed through the city like wildfire and within a short time the American shore of the river was lined by thousands of people.

Workers on the American shore made an effort to reach the three stranded on the ice floe. But at a point about 600 feet below the upper steel arch bridge the ice broke into great fields. The moving floe, with the three helpless beings, passed slowly down the river.

Meantime the fire headquarters truck had been called out, and a general alarm of fire on the Canadian side called out the men there. They took station, with ropes along the shore. The Niagara avenue firemen were sent to the lower steel arch bridge.

Just above the Old Maid of the Mist landing, a quarter of a mile from the whirlpool rapids, the floe on which the three were borne broke into two sections, the man and woman on one, Hecock on the other.

Hecock saw the ropes dangling from the bridge when the ice floe neared it and caught one and jumped free of the ice.

The sag of the rope at that great drop, 200 feet, let him into the chilly water up to his waist. Before he was clear of it he was frightfully battered by three successive floes of jutting ice.

Tries to Climb Up.

Not content with the efforts of the men above to draw him up, he tried to assist himself hand over hand. The hour or more that the boy had been on the ice and the effects of the icy ducking had sapped his strength. When about sixty feet clear of the water, he lost his grip and plunged far down into stream. For perhaps a half minute he was in view, and then he disappeared.

Hecock's failure was witnessed by the man on the other floe. The woman apparently dared not look.

As the couple swung under the cantilever bridge the man grasped a rope and tried to put it about the woman's waist. The force of the current was too much for the rope and it parted.

As the floe went into swift drift the man caught a rope dropped from the lower steel arch bridge and grimly hung on. He tried to wind the rope about the woman's waist. He fumbled in his agony of effort as if his hands were numb. When he could not tie the rope about the woman, he let it go.

There apparently was no thought of himself. He raised the woman to her feet, kissed her, and clasped her in his arms. The woman made as if to cross herself, then sank to her knees. The man knelt beside her, his arms clasped close about her.

So they went to their death. The ice struck the great wave. There it was shivered; there the gallant man and the woman disappeared from view.

DIED LIKE A HERO.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 5.—"Don't tell my mother," were the last words shouted by Burrell Hecock across the widening waters of Niagara to Ignatius Roth. Then the rapid current swept the heroic Hecock beyond the hearing and the vision of Roth, who had leaped to a neighboring ice floe. Roth saw nothing more of his friend, a projecting point blotting from his view the tragic end of Hecock and Eldridge Stanton and Mrs. Stanton.

As it chanced, the last expressed wish of young Hecock was for a time fulfilled. Though his father in this city received the news of the tragedy and of his son's heroism in attempting to save Mrs. Stanton soon after its occurrence last night, he had not told the mother. The father hoped against hope that word still might come that the boy's life had been spared.

Young Roth arrived at his home here late last night. He told how he and Hecock had crossed to the Canadian side on the ice bridge and taken pictures. Returning, the bridge began to rumble. Hecock dropped the camera. Roth picked it up. Hecock caught it from him and smashed it on the ice.

"This is no time to think of cameras," he said. "We must fight for our lives."

As they ran, Stanton behind them shouted for aid for his wife. Roth said he and Hecock stopped and Hecock took the woman by one arm, Stanton holding the other. Roth said he saw he could not help and made his way ahead toward the Canadian shore. Leaping a break in the ice he then called to Hecock.

"Can't you make it?"

"No. Goodbye. Don't tell my mother."

Roth then caught the rope thrown him and was drawn to safety.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago Market.
Chicago, Ill., Feb. 5.—Liberal selling wiped out today a wheat advance due to bullish cables. May started at $1.04½ to $1.04⅝, a gain of ⅜c to ½c, fell back to $1.03⅞ and rallied to $1.04⅛.
Absence of export demand with poorness of flour trade tended further to depress the market. Closing figures were weak, with May wheat ¾c net lower at $1.03⅝.
Warmer weather made the corn market weak. May opened at 69¼c, sagged to 68⅝c, and recovered to 68⅞c.
Oats took a down turn with corn. May started at 52⅞c to 53c and descended to 52¼c.
Slowness of cash demand led to a new setback. The close was weak with May corn ¾c net lower at 68½c.
Higher prices for hogs gave provisions a lift. First transactions were unchanged to 5c dearer, with May delivery $16.35 to $16.40 for pork, $9.40 for lard and $8.85 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.
New York, Feb. 5.—Prices were somewhat higher when the stock market opened today. The largest gains were made by Missouri Pacific and Wabash preferred, each of which rose a point. St. Paul advanced ⅝; Union Pacific ⅝ and United States Steel and Great Northern Ore Certificates ½. Third Avenue broke 2¾ points.
Buying orders were scarce around the opening range of prices and concessions were made steadily as stocks were forced on the market. Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, Reading and United States Steel reacted 1 to 1¼, the last named touching 59⅜c. Fractional recoveries occurred before 11 o'clock.
However, the market showed the effect of concerted pressure against the leaders, but received effective support after moderate losses had been sustained. Prices crept up gradually to about a level with last week's close. Bonds were steady.
The market closed easy. Tobacco stocks were under pressure, with American Tobacco dropping 7¾. Among the other specialties and railroad stocks there was very little movement, but the trade was downward. Prices of the favorite issues generally ended the day at about where they closed Saturday.

GETS GRILLING FROM THE JUDGE

Adam Beltz Must Give Bond of $500 to Support His Children.

CITY COURT CASES

When it developed in city court Monday morning that out of a total of something like $125 in wages drawn since December 18 Adam Beltz had contributed a total of but $3 toward the support of his four children—all below the age of 14 years—Judge Mungovan handed the accused man a grilling that was a work of art. It ended in continuing Beltz's case for ten days, and he must furnish a bond in the sum of $500 to properly care for his children. Failing in this Judge Mungovan pretty plainly indicated an intention of sending the case up to the circuit court with a prospect of a prison sentence ahead o Beltz.

Mrs. Beltz, who is but 27 years of age, was in court with three of the four little ones whom she has recently been compelled to support by her own labors. On the stand in his own defense Beltz insisted that he had done the best he could, but the court evidently did not share this opinion. Beltz was in court in December on a similar charge, and at that time promised the court to do better.

Pledge Didn't Stick.

George Stanton, who took the pledge in court Saturday morning to abstain forever from the intoxicating cup, was in the line-up this morning on the same old charge, and Judge Mungovan fined him $5 and costs.

Jeff Myers, when his name was called admitted that he had been drunk and observed that "it will probably be useless for me to take the stand this morning." Jeff's case was continued to Thursday.

Hiram McCullum, who staggered into the interurban station Saturday evening with the announced intention of "knocking the block" off Patrolman Ernest Paul, was fined $1 and costs, though his belligerent disposition had entirely disappeared today.

The Other Cases.

Of four men in on a charge of vagrancy, Robert Courtney's case was continued until Feb. 8; John Mehen was given a chance to get out of town as was also John Cannon, but Joe McPherson, who just got out of jail Saturday morning, was fined $5 and costs.

Dave Evans, for public intoxication, secured an indefinite continuance; Harry McHale, for public intoxication, was given another chance, and Frank Lewis, who had fallen down and cut an extensive gash above his left eye, accepted with thanks a sentence of $1 and costs. The term in jail will give his face a chance to make repairs and he admitted that going back to Detroit wearing a big plaster across his face "wouldn't be a very good reputation for the city of Fort Wayne."

PREPARING ITS REPORT.

Civic Improvement Ways and Means Committee in Session.

The ways and means committee named to consider the financial side of the river beautification project was in session Saturday evening preparing its formal report to the general body in which the bond issue of $200,000 will be advocated for the purchase of the river frontage.

Will the issuing of $200,000 of additional bonds mean an increase of the tax levy, was one of the questions discussed by the committee, and it was declared that it would not. It was pointed out that under the law the city of Fort Wayne must levy a tax of 5 cents on each $100 of taxable property for the purpose of paying off her bonded indebtedness. This she must do regardless of the amount of the bonds outstanding against her. In 1889 the bonded indebtedness of Fort Wayne was $740,000 and the sinking fund was 5 cents; in 1911 her bonded debt was $560,800 and the sinking fund was 5 cents. If Fort Wayne should now issue $200,000 of additional bonds, as she is proposing to do, for the purpose of buying real estate along the river, the present sinking fund levy of 5 cents would not be increased. If bonded debt of $700,000 cannot, of course, be paid off as fast with a 5-cent sinking fund levy as could a debt of $500,000, but inasmuch as it is intended to buy real estate with the proceeds of the bond issue, for the use and benefit of future generations there is no good reason why the present generation should pay off these bonds.

Mrs. Frances Haberley Robertson will leave this week for Daytona, Fla., where she will deliver a course of lectures on art before the winter colony at that resort.

SURELY BREAKS UP A BAD COLD

Most Severe Cold or the Grippe Relieved in Several Hours.

It is a postive fact that a dose of Pape's Cold Compound taken every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken will cure Grippe or break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

You distinctly feel the cold breaking and all the disagreeable grippe symptoms leaving after the very first dose. It promptly ends the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twnges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply. adv

Away With Catarrh A Filthy Disease

A Safe Old-fashioned Remedy Quickly Relieves All Distressing Symptoms.

If you are subject to frequent colds, or if you have any of the distressing symptoms of catarrh, such as stuffed up feeling in the head, profuse discharge from the nose, sores in the nose, phlegm in the throat causing hawking and spitting, dull pain in the head or ringing in the ears, just anoint the nostrils or rub the throat or chest with a little Ely's Cream Balm, and see how quickly you will get relief.

In a few minutes you will feel your head clearing, and after using the Balm for a day or so the nasty discharge will be checked, the pain, soreness and fever gone, and you will no longer be offensive to yourself and your friends by constantly hawking, spitting and blowing.

Shake off the grip of catarrh before it impairs your sense of taste, smell and hearing and poisons your whole system. In a short time you can be completely cured of this distressing disease by using Ely's Cream Balm. This healing, antiseptic Balm does not fool you by short, deceptive relief, but completely overcomes the disease. It clears the nose, head and throat of all the rank poison, soothes, heals and strengthens the raw, sore membranes, making you proof against colds and catarrh.

One application will convince you, and a 50 cent bottle will generally cure the worst case of catarrh. It is guaranteed. Get it from your druggist today.

READY TO OPEN NEXT SATURDAY

German-American Trust's South Side Branch to Begin Business.

DISSER IN CHARGE

The new south side branch of the German-American Trust company will open for business next Saturday morning in its new building at Calhoun and Holman streets, with John J. Disser, assistant secretary of the company, in charge.

This is the first of Fort Wayne's financial institutions to open a branch, and the location selected is one which is near the center of the new trend of business southward on Calhoun street. During the past year the company has erected a very fine building on the Holman street corner. It is handsomely fitted up and officers of the company say they expect to build up a splendid business for the company in that location.

Electric power for the Swiss railway to the Matterhorn is obtained from the Findalen glacier, which possesses the great advantage of supplying more instead of less in hot weather.

Keep Your Old Silk Dress

Make It Look New

OLOKLEN DOES THE BUSINESS

Don't throw away your old silk dress. Not until you try cleaning it with Oloklen.

Just put your old silk dress in gasoline and wash it, using Oloklen in the gasoline exactly as you would use soap in water.

Then you will be very glad you kept your fine old silk instead of making a shirt waist or fancy quilt out of it.

Oloklen is the secret the professional dry cleaners have kept for so long. It is the secret of their excellent work and their high prices.

But now the secret is yours. Oloklen costs but fifty cents a can, enough to do ten to fifteen dollars worth of dry cleaning. A smaller can at twenty-five cents.

For sale by druggists everywhere. If your druggist does not have it, send to Edw. L. Mertz, Mfg. Chemist, Fort Wayne, Ind.

DELIGHTFUL

The New Blouses

Even the new tailored blouses show touches of exquisite hand-embroidery or bits of Irish crochet. They really should be called semi-tailored, for with their soft turn-back cuffs and concealed front fastening, they could scarcely be classed with the regulation tailored waists. The pure Irish linen is soft and fine—not sheer, but of an exquisite quality. Then there are dozens of fluffy, lingerie models, with new high stock collars and long sleeves; also some charming collarless models with 3-4 length sleeves. The values are surprisingly good considering the high-class materials and trimmings used in their making.
